Solarium To Get $137,000 Under W. K. Esling Will

The Queen Alexandra Solarium will benefit to the extent of approximately $137,000 under the will of the late William K. Esling, who died last December. Mr. Esling was a member of the Provincial Legislature for Rossland from 1921 to 1923, and was federal member of Parliament for Kootenay West from 1925 until his death.

The information about the bequest reaches the Times office from private advices from the interior this morning.

It is understood that the amount mentioned is the net benefaction. Although exemption clauses in Dominion statutes may reduce this sum slightly, is is believed the figure will not be materially affected.

Although Mr. Esling did not come to Canada from his native Philadelphia until 1896, a young man of 28, it was perhaps because he hailed from "The City of Brotherly Love" that he radiated that unmistakable spirit of friendship which endeared him to all with whom he came into contact.

All those who were permitted to know Mr. Esling intimately had a soft spot in their hearts for him, not only because for many years he put his personal concepts of right and wrong before his party's dictum. He was a Conservative all his life, but his interest and belief in his adopted province made him a stalwart advocate of all movements which had for their main objective the progress of B.C.

Blindness afflicted Mr. Esling in later years, and he always seemed to get a good deal of pleasure in his memories as a newspaperman in the Kootenays, particularly when he talked to members of the press gallery or journalists generally in the provincial or national capital.

Since Mr. Esling's liberality of outlook and ever-present concern for the unfortunates were among his many excellent characteristics, it was not surprising that he remembered the tiny tots of Mill Bay, and that they benefit so generously by his thoughtfulness.

Among other bequests were certain sums for the district (Kootenay) fund for the blind and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind at Vancouver.

Wife-Sharing Called Cattle Herd System By Vancouver Dean

VANCOUVER (CP) — The "rotation" system of wife-sharing, now reported practised at the newly-formed Doukhobor settlement at Hilliers, Vancouver Island, today was criticized by Dean Cecil Swanson, president of the Vancouver Ministerial Association.

"The Doukhobors are one of those queer marginal types of Christian sects which exist through an unbalanced exaggeration of certain passages of Scripture," he said.

MISREAD NEW TESTAMENT

"The idea of 'free love' or of husband-and-wives-in-common is an exaggeration of the passage in Acts, 'neither called they aught that they possessed his own, but they had all things in common.'"

Dean Swanson said that if Doukhoborism wants to lapse into the morals of the "cattle herd" it is their own affair.

"It is tragic, however, that these people should have been allowed to colonize in Canada and be given a sort of preferred status among us."

"Swapping wives may be a moral offence, but its not a legal offence," a high official of the B.C. Attorney-General's department said Tuesday. "We have not heard of any wife-swapping among the island Doukhobors. If there is such a practice, it would give grounds for divorce—that is all."

He said adultery was not mentioned in the Criminal Code.

MILD IN MANNERS

Neighbors of the Hilliers group said the Doukhobors were "conservative, mild-mannered people." But the settlement may cause some concern to wealthy landowners at nearby Qualicum Beach. It is less than five miles from the famed resort where millionaires have summer homes and retired generals, titled gentry and high officers of the army, navy and air force have settled.

Also close at hand is the property owned by Dr. J. B. Munro, B.C. deputy minister of agriculture, who is a bee-keeper. Dr. Munro had nothing to say today except "I know nothing of my new neighbors—have not heard of any lawlessness and haven't missed any bees."

Zarubin Called To Moscow For Talks

LONDON (AP) — Informed diplomatic sources in touch with the Russian embassy here reported today that Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Britain, had been summoned back to Moscow for consultations.

Whitehall observers recalled that Russia had notified Britain late last week she was ready to begin discussions in London on the future of Italy's prewar colonial empire.

Accidental Death Verdict In Langford Track Fatality

A verdict of accidental death was returned at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlor this morning by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Edra Margaret Mulder, 31, who was killed Saturday night when struck on the side of the head by a racing-car wheel which came loose from a speeding car and flew into the crowd of spectators at the Victoria Day automobile races at the Langford Speedway.

The jury deliberated only 10 minutes before reaching this verdict.

Kynoch R. McIntyre, who was sitting two seats away from Mrs. Mulder in the first row of the bleachers at the track said he saw the wheel come off the car and start coming toward the point where he was sitting. The wheel was traveling at between 70 and 80 miles per hour, he said. As it neared the rail it must have hit something in the track because it bounced clear over the guard rail and hit Mrs. Mulder on the side of the head.

The wheel then bounced and hit Mr. McIntyre, who was shielding a small boy and his niece. The force of the wheel was still considerable when it struck Mr. McIntyre and he suffered a badly-injured arm.

"What time did this happen?" Coroner Hart asked.

"It happened at 9.10," Mr. McIntyre said. As proof of this statement he exhibited a pocket watch which he had had in his pocket at the time, and which had been broken by the force of the blow. The time registered on the watch was 9.10.

Albert Lorandini, a St. John ambulance man who was on duty at the track, said he and three other first aid men attended Mrs. Mulder and rushed her to hospital. She died in hospital.

John Meston, automobile mechanic, said he had examined the car following the accident and had found the wheel was released because a casting had broken.

Mr. Meston showed the coroner and the jury the hub which had broken.

"This looks to me as if it had been welded at sometime or other," Coroner Hart said.

"It had been brazed," said Mr. Meston.

"Would you say the brazing was defective?" the coroner asked.

"Since it broke, I would say it was defective," Mr. Meston replied. "However this car had been regularly inspected and it had never been revealed as defective."

Mr. Meston said the car had been inspected at the Langford track just before the races.

Jack 'Zeke' Zeigler, driver of the car, said the car was about eight-years-old and was very well built with many safety devices. He said that although the wheels were easy to change, they were well fastened to the axles.

Bruce Passmore, owner of the Langford Speedway, told the jury the track had just been resurfaced, and was in good condition.

Albert Mulder, husband of the deceased, identified the body.

Mr. Mulder, who had been sitting next to his wife at the track, told the jury the wheel had come "like a bullet." He ducked to get out the way of the wheel and thought his wife ducked also.

Serving on the jury were: George Thackray, foreman; Robert Lymbery, John Fielding, John Long, Duncan McKerracher and Jack Harris.

Police Charge Boy Killed 4 Who Saw Him Attack Girl

LAPEER, Mich. (AP)—Prosecutor Kenneth H. Smith said today that he will seek to prove that four young Imlay City children were killed because they interfered with 16-year-old Oliver Terpening's attempt to rape one of them.

He said he would attempt to shake the stolid farm youth's story that he shot his four playmates Monday afternoon "because I wondered what it would feel like to put a bullet through a human being."

Terpening is charged with murder.

Smith advanced the theory that the children were killed after they had surprised Terpening in an attempt to assault 16-year-old Barbara Smith on a flower-picking foray near their farm homes.

State Police Commissioner Don S. Leonard said the boy also admitted he had killed Stanley Smith, her 14-year-old brother and his best chum, and her sisters, Gladys, 12 and Janet, two.

Captured in Toledo over the Ohio state border and returned Tuesday to Michigan after a night of evading authorities, Terpening waited quietly in his jail cell here while Prosecutor Smith prepared to go before Probate Judge Glenn C. Hollenbeck to seek a waiver of jurisdiction over the minor prisoner. If he waives examination, his appearance in circuit court will be delayed at least until Monday.

Complete bewilderment over the brutal slaying came Tuesday from the youth himself, his father, parents of the victims and even the medical examiner who questioned him.

"I don't know; I just don't know why I did it," Leonard quoted Oliver as saying, and Dr. Le Moyne Snyder, state police medico-legal expert who questioned him, could add only his exclamation, "I wish to God I knew what was wrong with him."

Cheyne Will Study Milk Distribution

Robert Cheyne, Victoria chartered accountant, has been appointed to conduct an investigation for the provincial milk board into the cost of processing and distributing milk in Victoria.

The appointment, made by the provincial milk board, has been approved by the provincial cabinet.

The investigation follows the announcement of E. C. Carr, one-man milk controller for the province, who said, following the granting of an increase recently in the price of milk to producers, that a study of processing and distribution costs would be undertaken by the board.

To Be Refitted

LONDON (AP) — The 40,000-ton battleship Vanguard largest of the British fleet, is to be laid up for a six-month refit, the Admiralty announced today.

The Vanguard, which carried the Royal Family to and from South Africa for its tour this year, will leave Portsmouth June 16 for Devonport for the refitting.

Lonesome Stowaways

These three Australian girls, Sandra Lee, Wanda Sauderian and Norma Hughes (left to right), were lonesome for their United States boy friends. They stowed away on the freighter Ephrim Bravard at Sydney. When the ship's captain found them, he put them to mending clothes until the freighter docked at New Orleans.

Nicaragua Runs Smoothly After Bloodless Overturn

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Stores and business houses here were functioning normally and air transportation was again on regular schedule today after a brief interruption resulting from the bloodless coup which forced President Leonard Arguello out of office today.

Only a few armed soldiers were seen on the streets. They were stationed at the principal corners, performing the usual duties of traffic policemen.

Deposed President Arguello, his wife and several army officers who remained loyal to him were still in refuge at the Mexican embassy. The ambassador refused to let newspaper men interview Arguello.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza, head of the army and former President who led the coup, has promised the Nicaraguan people that a new presidential election will be held soon.

WOULD NOT BE OUSTED

Somoza acknowledged his leadership of the stroke in an interview Tuesday night and blamed the coup d'etat on a plot to oust him from his post as Jefe Director (director-in-chief) of the National Guard. He said he had been marked for death.

Arguello, who has been given diplomatic asylum in the Mexican Embassy, was elected, with Somoza's blessing, in balloting on Feb. 2 and had held his office only 26 days. He succeeded Somoza, who had been chief of state for 10 years.

Congress, at a special session Monday night, declared Arguello "unfit" for the presidency and named the first presidential alternate, 60-year-old Benjamin Lacayo Sacasa Acting President.

"The new President," said Somoza, "will convoke free elections and I believe it is a magnificent opportunity to choose a candidate in harmony with the combination of all the political parties." He added:

"The country is in complete calm. In the unfolding of the events there was not a single shot fired nor a single drop of Nicaraguan blood spilled nor a single political arrest."

Sources in Panama close to the Nicaraguan situation said earlier that Somoza had engineered the coup because Arguello tried to exile Somoza and had dismissed several Somoza supporters from high government posts.

Bevin Upheld; Wins Big Labor Party Vote On Foreign Policy

MARGATE, Kent, Eng. (CP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin won a vote of confidence from Britain's ruling Labor Party by more than two to one in a parliamentary skirmish on foreign affairs at the party's annual conference here today.

Delegates voted 2,357,000 to 1,109,000 for rejection of a composite resolution calling for a "review of our military commitments and the distribution and organization of the armed forces, in order that they may be reduced considerably below the government's target for March, 1948."

The delegates voted on a representational ballot—voting the full membership of their individual local organizations.

The government also won a victory on its proposals for economic planning and manpower distribution for coping with the country's current economic crisis.

Resolutions supported by the party's national executive were given almost unanimous approval, while others disapproved by the executive were defeated or withdrawn.

The debate on economic planning was highlighted by addresses of two high government leaders who indicated Britain did not intend to seek another loan from the United States.

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison warned against piling up financial obligations, and Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton said that "we must not count upon raising any further overseas credit."

Grain Hits Limit

WINNIPEG (CP)—In a reflection of broad advances in U.S. grain, coupled with unfavorable growing weather on both sides of the border, the May and July rye futures climbed the full 10-cent limit in trading on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Covering purchases following the unfavorable weather reports contributed to the advance.

Mad At Doukhobors

QUALICUM, B.C. (CP)—Residents of this fashionable Vancouver Island resort town are up in arms over the reported wife-sharing practices being carried on at the nearby Doukhobor community of Hilliers. Wealthy landowners and real estate agents today condemned the placing of the colony less than five miles from retired millionaires' beach homes.

Black Market Charges

WINNIPEG (CP) Convicted on four charges of black market operations, Isaac Fiterman said in provincial police court here today that because he could obtain no quota from manufacturers for his wholesale business he had been forced to buy goods from other wholesalers in eastern Canada at prices above ceiling prices. Two other charges against him also arise out of the sale of more than $125,000 worth of clothing throughout western Canada.

Contracts Awarded For U.B.C. Building

The provincial government as agents for the University of British Columbia has let the contracts for the construction of part of the university's applied science building which will ultimately cost about $1,000,000.

The first two stories of the building will be completed under the present contracts. The other two stories will be completed later.

The general contract goes to Marwell Construction Co. Ltd., which tendered to do the work for $468,020. To Hume and Rumble Ltd. goes the electrical contract for $122,015, while the heating and ventilating contract has been awarded to Barr and Anderson Ltd., $66,612. The plumbing contract, costing $34,316 has been awarded to Fred Welsh & Son.

Bunkhouse Burns; Men Flee; Loss $60,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fire which gutted the newly-constructed bunkhouse of Bloedel, Stewart and Welch Ltd., shingle mill here early today caused $60,000 damage and forced 50 Chinese mill workers, asleep inside, to flee in confusion. One workman reported the loss of $400 which he had hidden in his mattress. Cause of the blaze is not yet known.

Soviet Move On Atom Makes Veto Issue Again In U.N. Debate

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—The question of the veto became an issue again in United Nations debate today as the United States prepared to oppose a Russian resolution which would make the Security Council the seat of authority for all organs created for international control of atomic energy.

Frederick H. Osborn, deputy U.S. delegate to the Atomic Energy Commission, planned to argue against the Soviet resolution at a closed meeting of the working committee.

U.S. sources said he based his stand on the ground the Soviet resolution would make decisions on atomic control subject to veto by vesting final power in the council, where Russia and the other major powers hold the power of veto.

The United States stands firm for "no veto" on atomic control, and Russia insists the proposed atomic control agency work under the eyes of the council. This is one of the major differences blocking the whole program in the U.N.

Osborn was represented as arguing further that the exact status of control organs still to be created must be determined by the language of the treaty setting up the whole international program.

On another U.N. front, the subcommission on freedom of information and of the press rejected Russia's ateempt to list a struggle against "remnants of fascism" and "war-mongers" among the objectives of the press.

Western Weather Mixed

WINNIPEG (CP) — Western Canada's meteorological crazy quilt—for this time of year—showed signs of continuing today with the prediction that temperatures would "remain cool."

In Winnipeg the sun struggled to pierce a leaden sky amid intermittent snow flurries. Lethbridge, Alta., reported 9 degrees of frost overnight and Edmonton 4 degrees, with weather conditions "clear and cool."

The plaintive word from Calgary was that many early flowers had been nipped by frost. Only British Columbians could truthfully say that it was very warm for May; they were in the grip of a record-shattering heat wave which saw Kamloops, B.C., register a temperature of 92 degrees Tuesday.

Snowflurries were in prospect for Manitoba and Saskatchewan today. Saskatoon reported an early temperature of only 15 degrees above zero, and later reading for the prairies were expected to be 10 to 20 degrees below the normals for the month, reaching about 45 in Saskatchewan and 55 in Alberta.

"While British Columbia beings its second week of clear, warm weather," said the forecasters, "very cool air still covers the prairies."

Disgruntled residents of Winnipeg, where women golfers Tuesday braved cold and snow to participate in a tournament, agreed.

Interim Government

BATAVIA, Java (AP)—A joint Dutch-Indonesian interim government was reported reliably today to have been proposed by the Dutch as a step toward a United States of Indonesia.

Experts Complete Probe Of Air Crash, 15 Deaths In B.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Howe said Tuesday in the Commons an investigation of the cause of the T.C.A. plane crash with loss of 15 lives in British Columbia April 29 had been completed, but he gave no indication of its findings.

Answering a series of questions from E. B. McKay, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., Mr. Howe said no claims had been filed with T.C.A. for damages. He said the investigation had been carried out by a board composed of three senior officials of the civil aviation division of the Department of Transport.

The R.C.A.F. had abandoned the search for survivors, but the T.C.A. is "still following any clues that may come in." Complete investigation had shown there was no authenticity in reports that messages from the plane had been heard at Ashcroft and Lytton, B.C.

Quiet By-election In Esquimalt Forecast

No election meetings or strenuous campaigning is planned by J. P. A. Christensen or A. I. (Bert) Thomas, who have announced their candidacy for the reeveship of Esquimalt, in the by-election June 19. Nomination papers must be filed by June 14. To date no others have announced intentions of running for the position of reeve, which was left vacant by the sudden death of Col. Ernest J. Read. The two candidates agreed that as policy of council was set at the beginning of the year, there is little point to any election campaigning. The term will expire the end of this year.

Vancouver Police Still Seeking Member Of Bank Hold-Up Gang

VANCOUVER (CP) — The police hunt for a remaining member of a hold-up group gained new impetus today following the arrest Monday night of one of the alleged bandits, Clifford Ervine Lapierre, and the recovery of $1,832 of the $5,129 stolen Monday in the daring daylight robbery of the suburban Grandview branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Lapierre, 35-year-old part-time elevator operator, was arrested in a quick raid by police on a downtown hotel, and charged with the bank robbery.

Two men, a woman and a 16-year-old girl, found in Lapierre's room, were also taken into custody and are held for investigation. However, police said another man was still the object of a continued search.

The arrest was engineered by Chief Constable Walter Mulligan, who personally entered Lapierre's room with two other detectives as a result of a "tip" received shortly before the raid, and took Lapierre from the hotel handcuffed to his side.

Detective James Berry said they had taken possession of a suitcase and a club-bag in Lapierre's room, one of which contained the recovered money. A .38 calibre revolver, identified by police as that stolen from the teller's cage during the hold-up, was also seized.

AT HARRISON

Police said they had learned Lapierre boarded a taxi following the bank hold-up and, accompanied by a woman, was driven to a hotel at Harrison Hot Springs, a summer resort about 55 miles east of here.

At Harrison, an argument was supposed to have taken place between Lapierre and the woman which resulted in her returning to Vancouvr. Lapierre followed her Tuesday by chartered plane and then police closed in.

Young Man Loves Married Women—Consults Pyschiatrist

"You see, doctor," Sam Logan explained anxiously, "it isn't that I actually fell for her. But I could have if I'd stuck around. That's why I had to get out. After all, she's married—to my best friend."

The stringy old gentleman on the other side of the desk gave Sam a shrewd look. "I see. But what makes you think psychiatry will help you?" he asked.

"Because it happens all the time," Sam replied sorrowfully. "All the women I think I could go for—are married. I never seem to like the single ones. I'm beginning to be afraid it may mean something."

Dr. Bicquel snorted. "Lot of bosh. Doesn't mean a thing except that all the best ones are taken early. How old are you, Mr. Logan?"

"I'm 32."

"Good income?"

"Mm. Good enough."

"How's your health?"

"Fine. I keep in condition."

The doctor squinted one sharp eye at the young man opposite him, took in the square shoulders, the long legs and the deep tan. "You ought to be married, you know."

"I know," agreed Sam. "That's why I came to you. Because I never will be if I keep on this way. Why, only this afternoon—"

Here, indeed, is a great human interest story entitled "Other Men's Wives," published in the May 31 edition of the Star Weekly, now on sale at your magazine dealers. Get your copy today and read the cure Dr. Bicquel applied on this strange young man.

Prospects For Crops On Prairies Good But Work Retarded

OTTAWA (CP) — Over-all crop prospects in the prairie provinces are considered to be "generally satisfactory," the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said Tuesday in the second of a series of 16 telegraphic reports on western conditions.

The summary said "below-normal" temperatures have prevailed for the last week throughout the prairies and have retarded germination and growth in many districts. Average rainfall since April 1 has been "well below normal," but subsoil reserves have been enough to maintain generally good moisture conditions.

Wheat seeding in Manitoba is nearing completion, while Saskatchewan and Alberta have reported seedings 83 and 90 per cent complete, respectively. More than half of the coarse grain acreage in all three provinces now is planted.

"Warmer weather now is required and rains would be helpful, particularly in some districts where soil drifting has commenced or is imminent," the report said. "Over-all crop prospects are considered to be generally satisfactory."

26 More Germans Of Camp Hanged

LANDSBERG, Germany (AP) —United States army executioners hanged 26 more Elite Guard administrators of the infamous Mauthausen concentration camp today, completing the execution of 48 of the camps' guards and foremen for war crimes.

Twenty-two men were hanged Tuesday in two hours and 37 minutes. Today's executions of 26 men occupied three hours and 30 minutes.

One man received a last-minute stay of execution. He was Otto Striegel, 32, the Mauthausen mess sergeant. A final decision is expected from United States army headquarters within 24 hours.

When informed of the reprieve, Striegel defiantly demanded to know why he was not being hanged with his comrades.

Maj. Victor Zoller, Mauthausen commandant, was the last to die as the United States army hangmen wound up the largest executions by an Allied power in the history of war crimes prosecutions.

Zoller, 35, smiled as he stood on the trap for his last words. Like many of the others he declared he was not a war criminal and added: "Many who were hanged here yesterday were not war criminals either."

An American military court convicted the 48 men of slaughtering more than 700,000 persons of many nationalities at Mauthausen.

Says Lake Seamen Joining New Union

Sullivan, who denounced the C.S.U., of which he was president, as a Communist-inspired organization when he resigned two months ago and went into temporary seclusion, said in a statement that the executive of his new union had just completed a three-day session and the letters had been sent to all companies outlining the new wage scale sought.

ENDORSED BY GOOD MARGIN

ALL THREE OPPOSITION PARTIES IN the House of Commons last night pooled their votes in support of a C.C.F. motion of non-confidence in an effort to defeat the King government. Before the division bell rang, Hon. John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, complained that the reductions announced in the budget were "inadequate" and "inequitable" because they provided relief only for those "reasonably well off." By a vote of 109 to 91 the Socialist motion went into the discard; a subsequent similar Tory motion—supported by the C.C.F. and Social Credit members—was rejected to the tune of 109 to 90.

As the leader of the C.C.F. Party, of course, it is Mr. Coldwell's duty to those of his followers who find little good in anything save that which a Socialist administration does, or could do, to oppose the Liberal regime on general principles—regardless of the fact that the able member for Rosetown-Biggar must know in his heart that he is more often than not on unsound ground. In the case of Mr. Bracken, on the other hand, the Progressive Conservative policy of obstruction—or as interpreted by the party's leader—seems to rest on a collection of contradictions. And it is this technique which is obviously worrying the official opposition's experienced Board of Strategy whose members are manifesting considerable doubt about future election prospects so long as the former Premier of Manitoba is in the driver's seat.

Only a week or so ago, it will be remembered, Mr. Bracken was demanding increasing old age pensions, the elimination of radio license fees, an advance in agricultural floor prices, that veterans be treated more generously, that income taxes be reduced by one-third, and that exemptions be raised. It apparently meant nothing to the Progressive Conservative leader that to implement his first four proposals would cost the national treasury upwards of $400,000,000, while his suggested income tax revision would cause a drop in revenue of more than $250,000,000. Small wonder that business realists in the principal opposition camp view with alarm Mr. Bracken's economic contributions to the House of Commons budget debates.

DOWN AT MARGATE

YESTERDAY'S DELIBERATIONS AT the annual convention of the British Labor Party at Margate were marked by the enthusiastic reception of the Prime Minister's speech. Not that Mr. Attlee uttered anything of a world-shaking character; but the fact that his words were cheered as "if he were the world's top orator"—as the dispatch from the seaside resort described reaction to his address—and that he looked "more tired" than when he spoke to the delegates last year, gave the clue that the party members had much more on their minds than their political leader's views on the questions of the day. Apart, therefore, from what the head of the government said or left unsaid, the report of the proceedings in which he took part intimated that his "tired" look evoked considerable speculation on what member of his present cabinet might succeed him if his health were to become seriously impaired under the exacting strain of office.

Any discussion of the possibility or probability of the Labor Party being suddenly called upon to replace Mr. Attlee automatically throws into sharp relief the fact that both Rt. Hon. Herbert Morrison and Rt. Hon. Ernest Bevin are far from physically robust. The former, who is Lord President of the Council and leader of the House of Commons, is just recovering from a lengthy siege of hospitalization, while the latter, who succeeded Mr. Anthony Eden at the Foreign Office after the general election of 1945, goes howhere without his personal physician. Nothing has transpired to suggest that either of these experienced ministers—who, by the way, are the Prime Minister's main supporters in Parliament—are ready for the political limbo. Both are born fighters, indefatigable in the discharge of their duties, and may probably remain forces to be reckoned with for some time to come. But that wing of the Labor Party which seems to be succeeding in preventing the more leftish elements from getting out of hand obviously finds no reason to apologize for facing facts and preparing itself accordingly.

None who saw him in action at the San Francisco Conference two years ago, before the political "revolution" which ended the Churchill administration, or who has followed his progress since, would describe Mr. Attlee as the possessor of a dynamic personality. Nor is this attribute always a prime requisite in the management of party affairs. Whether the British Prime Minister has the Mackenzie King "touch" in such matters, on the other hand, remains to be seen. But with the rank and file of his supporters the former is still "Our Clem" just as Mr. Churchill was "Our Winnie" during Britain's finest hours. They still remember that the head of the present government at Westminster is "one of them"—the man who entered public life from the East End training school from which he graduated the hard way. His early upbringing in comparative affluence, his scholastic background, and the traditional social attributes were not sufficient to divert him from the course he chose for himself. He wanted to learn about the seamy side of life; he acquired that knowledge down in Stepney. It has stood him in good stead; it may yet constitute his chief bulwark against those who seem to be growing impatient with the slowness with which their party program is unfolding.

It is, however, by no means surprising that Britain's political wiseacres are toying with the idea that one day Rt. Hon. Hugh Dalton may find himself wearing Mr. Attlee's mantle. If and when the time arrives to decide the future role of the present Chancellor of the Exchequer opinions may be sharply divided, both among the occupants of the treasury benches and in that section of the House of Commons in which sit the more aggressive leftish elements of the government party. This aspect of the controversy which has emerged as a result of the physical appearance of the key men, as judged by the delegates to the Margate meeting, is bound to attract public attention. Mr. Dalton, of course, is an intellectual giant of wide attainments, an expert in the field of national an international economics, a seasoned traveller and an experienced parliamentarian. And his 60 years seem to rest lightly on him; for yesterday's convention report describes him as giving the impression of "bouncing health in a cabinet of tired men." His name in a new sense, therefore, is bound to be prominent in the news in the next few months. But those who think he has sold out "his class" may be counted upon to oppose him strongly.

FOR DEFENCE TOO

THE STATE OF THE WORLD BEING what it is, the testimony of United States Secretary of State Marshall that the St. Lawrence Seaway Project would aid "immeasurably" in joint Canadian-American defence of this continent may carry more weight than many other equally excellent arguments in favor of completion of the vast navigation and waterpower program. The plan, which has been under consideration of the two governments for some years, envisions a further power development of falls and rapids in the St. Lawrence basin by Canada and the United States, in addition to construction of a system of locks and channels which would permit seagoing vessels to sail into the Great Lakes. The cost is estimated at upwards of $500,000,000, to which this country already has contributed substantially.

Of the value of the power potential in peace or war there can be no doubts. And the advantage of having ocean freight handled only once in its journey by water into the heart of the continent also promises great things for the western and central portions of both countries. Atlantic ports, of course, view the project without enthusiasm, fearing that much of their business will be diverted past their doors to the Lake region. It may be that the "defence" argument, coming from such an authority as General Marshall, will add a new and decisive factor to consideration of the pros and cons.

EXCELLENT PROJECT

GREATER VICTORIANS, WHO HAVE had many opportunities to express their appreciation of service club benefactions, found grounds for further congratulation of the Gyro Club this week following the announcement of that organization's plans to build a $40,000 nurses' home for the Queen Alexandra Solarium. This ambitious project will doubtless evoke the warm and generous support of this community—which holds the institution at Mill Bay in high regard.

To those who have spent even short periods in a hospital or a similar curative establishment, the importance of the nurse requires no elaboration. Anything that can add to the comfort of the "women in white," that can assist them in maintaining the healthy, cheerful outlook that makes their work doubly effective, is to be commended. And for those entrusted to so great a degree with the welfare of the little charges at the Solarium, improvement in living conditions seems particularly worthy as an objective for service club support.

SHOUTING 'WOLF'

THE HAPPY CLAMOR OF YOUNG CHILdren playing on beaches and at lake resorts is an essentially healthy expression of their enjoyment of wholesome recreation. It may be more noisy than some of their elders approve, but it is a natural outlet for exuberant spirits.

There is, however, one danger in the shrill cries that come from them. Too freqently they sound calls for help, seeking support of their fellows in repulsing the playful attacks of others in the games they devise. It is a thoughtless cry. But it is one they should be taught not to use unless they are in very serious difficulties. The call for help should be reserved for the child who actually needs assistance to avoid injury or possibly death from drowning. The boy or girl who utters it heedlessly is unwittingly playing wolf and is dulling its import to adult ears. Parents would do well at this season to emphasize to their young sons and daughters that the call for help is not one for play. It should be reserved for one purpose and one purpose only—an emergency and then it should be given full tongue.

Down From The Clouds

By PETER EDSON From Washington

WHILE THE REST of the business world is just talking about the remote possibilities of a recession, the U.S. aviation industry is having one. Everybody knows this, though no one likes to come right out and admit it.

The first industry-wide postwar depression does not seem to be fun. It runs through every branch of the business, from experimenter and designer to plane manufacturer, Army and Navy air services to foreign and domestic airlines, shoestring operators of cargo to charter services and cowpasture airports.

Most of this trouble seems to be a reconversion problem. The industry can't find out how big it's going to be. And the only solution which any branch of the flying business has so far been able to think up is to ask the government for bigger and better subsidies for research, manufacture, and operation.

DURING THE WAR aviation was the biggest business. With a squadron of planes over or under every cloud in the sky, some enthusiasts got the idea that all these airplanes were here to stay and that the air age had arrived. It was generally assumed that airplane manufacturers would have enough orders to stay in big business, even if most of the orders came from government. Today none of these assumptions is any good.

First the postwar Army Air Force was cut from 70 squadrons to 55. It may be cut again. Orders for 3,000 new military aircraft were cut to 1,300. There just isn't enough business in sight to keep the major warplane makers going.

FOR THIS YEAR, most of the big plane manufacturers have enough orders for commercial transports to keep going. But when these orders for approximately 800 planes are filled, some of the manufacturers say they'll have to go out of business.

It is a by-word in the aviation industry that nobody ever made any money manufacturing planes. Donald Douglas has said that he made his money buying stock in his company when it was cheap—after bad aircraft crashes—then selling it again after big aviation triumphs like the Lindbergh flight sent aviation stock soaring.

Of the 17 major military aircraft contractors, eight showed losses for 1946. Three others would have shown losses but for tax carry-backs. Their combined net income in 1945 was over $100 million. Their combined net loss in 1946 was about $1 million.

Some of the plane makers are already turning to other lines. Northrop has a profitable line of motorcycles. Glenn Martin is interested in plastics. Fairchild has a long line of research projects going on new products. Bell Aircraft had a major stockholders' battle before deciding to keep going, instead of splitting up its cash reserves and calling it a day.

SINGING THE BLUES to these tunes, aircraft manufacturers put on their dark glasses and hold out their tincups for government doles. Their industry spokesman, Maj.-Gen. Oliver P. Echols—who was chief procurement officer for the Air Forces during the war but is now president of Aircraft Industries Assn.—tells anyone who will listen that to keep going and keep ahead, plane manufacturers should have orders for at least 300 new military craft and 500 new transports a year.

What this trade association has been lobbying for since long before the end of the war is a congressionally established national "Air Policy Board." Job of the board would be to keep a continuously revised five-year aircraft procurement plan in action.

The bugs in this proposal are that it might tend to freeze the industry. Newcomers with new ideas would have a hard time breaking in. It would also tend to subsidize the industry.

ONE SUGGESTED ALERNATIVE—also full of bugs—is to set up a nationalized, government-owned and operated aviation industry, to be run something like U.S. arsenals and Navy yards. France had a government aviation industry at the start of the last war. It was no good. Only a healthy, highly competitive private industry, fighting for new ideas and new business, can develop the new stuff.

If the industry wants to stay big, it may have to find other things to do in time of peace. The country doesn't keep its tank arsenals, its powder plants, its shipyards, its gun factories going full tilt in time of peace.

EFFORT TO CHANGE U.S. international aviation policy—substituting a single, U.S. flag "chosen instrument" airline in place of regulated competition among the 15 U.S. companies now certificated for overseas flying—represents one of the biggest subsidy grabs ever tried in Washington.

Two bills to create a joint international aviation company, owned by the U.S. airlines, railroads and steamship companies, are now before Congress. The President's Air Co-ordinating Committee, State and Commerce Departments and all airlines but Pan-American are opposing it.

In summing up his testimony on this proposed legislation, Chairman Landis declared that it "goes even farther than the establishment of a monopoly in destroying all incentives; it even destroys the profit motive itself . . . The carrier can operate almost without regard to its success in keeping costs low and in attracting patronage. The management will be little concerned with actual airline operations; its main function will be to see that the maximum take is gained from the public treasury."

All Dressed Up And No Place To Go

U.S. Films—The Russian Has A Point

By JAMES THRASHER, from New York

JUST WHEN the U.S. House Un-American Activities Committee is investigating the movie industry as a hotbed of communism, along comes a Soviet writer named Yuri Zhukov to accuse it of being an instrument of capitalism.

Of course, Mr. Znukov says that Hollywood has placed itself at the disposal of "monopolistic capitalism and reaction." That is a required stock phrase of Communist writers. On the basis of Hollywood's end product, however, we would be inclined to string along with the Russian's essential meaning instead of the House committee's suspicions.

PARLOR PINKS

Certainly there are Communists and fellow travelers in the film industry, some of them prosperous individuals who can dabble their feet in their private swimming pools while weeping over the exploited proletariat. But the studios' output does not indicate that the Reds and Pinks are in charge and spreading insidious propaganda on film and sound track.

American movies are aimed primarily at the American public. Only a small fraction of that public wants to see the Communists run their government. No studio could turn out pro-Communist or anti-American pictures for long and still hope to survive in the competitive market.

STEREOTYPE

No, Hollywood's great trouble is that it so often portrays American life in a stereotyped and somewhat unreal manner. For every original, creative team of writer-director-producer, there are perhaps a dozen teams who can follow only the current pattern of success. An original team does a picture with a different slant, and it makes money. Then movie audiences are treated to a small epidemic of the same sort of film.

A series patterned after "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" or "The Best Years of Our Lives" can be fine. The endless variations on "Little Caesar," not so good. Ditto the current crop of psychopathic murderers, or those that have aped "Murder, My Sweet" without catching many of its dramatic virtues.

POINTED CRITICISM

Mr. Zhukov has some pointed criticisms which, though highly exaggerated, are essentialy apt. He mentions U.S. movies' treatment of races and nationalities. And it is true that Hollywood seldom treats Negroes or foreign-born Americans simply as persons. They're usually in there as comic relief, or as villians, or as something that sets them apart and slightly below the white native characters in the film.

Movie shortcomings are not too harmful or misleading to the American public. Audiences know distortions of American life when they see them on the screen. But to foreign audiences the average American film could be extremely misinformative.

We do not think this is all part of a subtle plot of Hollywood Communists to undermine economy and government. We do think it betrays some want of imagination and responsibility among convinced supporters of the capitalistic system. U.S. films as a whole do not need more capitalistic propaganda. But they need more honesty and realism.

Explaining The East To The West

From the Annual Review of the Rockefeller Foundation

ONE OF THE important tasks of our generation—and perhaps it is the most imperative of all—is to find ways by which the ideological chasms which now divide the world can be bridged. We live in a time of political and economic diversity and cultural conflict far more acute than anything our modern civilization has before known. It is not merely the Soviet system versus the West; ideological stresses and strains are present everywhere—China against the West, for example, India against the West, the Near East against the West. Somehow or other a basis must be found for accommodating the differing political aspirations and the conflicting ideals of Eastern civilization and our own.

It is easy to preach tolerance. It is easy to say that irreconcilable and dynamic beliefs can live side by side in peace in the same world. But as the situation is developing now, there may not be time to achieve this tolerance.

KNOW TOO LITTLE

Perhaps the main difficulty in the situation is that the East and West do not understand each other. We know too little of each other's history or traditions. Only within the last decade has interest in Chinese and Slavonic studies been seriously awakened in the United States, and even now there is little appreciation of the impact which Eastern aspirations and culture are bound to make upon the West as the Orient stirs to new life.

Since 1933 the Rockefeller Foundation has been trying to stimulate a widening interest in the languages, history, cultures and traditions of the East. Up to the present time approximately a million dollars has been appropriated for this purpose—a relatively modest amount when compared with the need. In 1946 five grants were made through the Division of Humanities in continuation of this program. Two of the grants were for work in Europe, one to the Chinese Institute at the University of Leiden and the other for the development of Far Eastern studies at the University of Stockholm.

RESOURCES INCREASED

A third grant was to the Institute of Pacific Relations for the preparation of English translations of source materials on Chinese history. The volumes which will be produced will be the first works in a western language to present the essential elements of Chinese history from original texts.

Since 1935 Princeton University has been developing studies of the more recent phases of Near Eastern life and tradition. In 1946 the Rockefeller Foundation granted $42,500 for the development of this work. The Hoover Institute for Slavonic Studies at Stanford University possesses unique resources for the advanced study of recent Slavic history and institutions. Purchases and gifts of materials since 1917 cover all classes of documentation on historical events of European and Asiatic countries for the past 30 years. No other American library has comparable holdings on the Soviet Union, and these resources are now being systematically increased by purchasing agents in Central Europe, in Japan and in China.

CLOSER UNDERSTANDING

In this connection, mention might be made of the appropriations, voted in 1946, through the Foundation's Division of the Social Sciences, of $233,000 to the Institute of Pacific Relations, $60,000 of which went to the American Council and $173,000 to the Pacific Council. Much of the work of this organization is related to the training of personnel, the stimulation of language study and the conduct of research on problems of the Far East. It is part of the pattern by which, from many different directions and points of view, efforts are being made to bring the West and the East into closer understanding.

Fair Wage?

News from India

THE RECOMMENDATIONS of the Central Pay Commission appointed by the government of India last May to bring greater rationalization, simplification and uniformity in pay structures and conditions of service of Central Government employees were published today.

The commission, which examined witnesses and received 300 memoranda, recognizing that no person should receive anything less than a living wage, have fixed Rs. 55 ($17 approx.) and Rs. 90 ($27 approx.) as fair monthly minima for working class and middle class families, respectively, and have additionally recommended payment of house rent and compensatory allowances in costly places and certain other concessions like free medical attention for government servants and their families.

At the other end of the scale, the commission has recommended a ceiling of Rs. 2,000 ($600 approx.) monthly, relaxable only in the case of a few select posts.

Edmonton Bulletin

Having regard to the oft-repeated plea for teaching more and better French in English-speaking Canada, inclusion of the strange words "unknowned" and "deseased" on a Quebec post-office's reasons for "return to sender" suggests the urgency of a corresponding campaign for better English.

VALUE OF FAITH

Prince Rupert News

Without faith, the accomplishments of success would not be possible. Without faith, life would be haphazard and empty. It is one of man's greatest possessions, giving life a value which could not be realized through any other medium.

FOR HEALTHFUL BATCHING

Health and Welfare Bulletin

It is such a temptation for the bachelor or bachelor-girl to make do with a snack, and, the doctors fear, many living alone are inclined to be careless with cleaning up their living quarters. Strict self-discipline is advised, not only with respect to cleanliness of rooms and apartments, but with meal schedules and other aspects of living.

BRITAIN ISN'T THROUGH

Financial Post

Some American observers have already written off Britain as finished; practically all the others are at least dubious about recovery. However, this is not the first time they have been prepared to go into mourning. They were doubtful, too, after the first world war, then amazed and thankful later when the patient recovered sufficiently to hold Hitler off alone.

HUMAN ELEMENT

B. C. Financial Times

One fact about airlines, railways, buses and automobiles that the public is prone to forget is that in most accidents the human element is at fault. Airliner may have the very best mechanical safety equipment; railways may have the block system and other devices; buses may have the best in brakes; but, if a pilot, a switchman or a bus driver becomes careless, an accident results.

RARE SURPLUS

Ottawa Journal

Time looks to us like the one thing we have lots of, if not, indeed, too much. We're short of money, food, houses, brains, golf balls, pyjamas with buttons and socks without holes. But time! Time is a fixed and inevitable and undiminishable asset. Time looms ahead of us like an unending road. No—our problem is not a shortage of time but a want of knowledge and energy to use it rightly.

HORRIFIED?

Letter to Picture Post

I am horrified to learn from my young brother, who has just been posted to an Infantry Training Battalion at Aldershot, that amongst his preparations for the weekly kit inspection he has to emery board and polish the studs and plates on his boots, scrape the label from his boot polish tin and then polish the lid. Surely these stupid and unnecessary practices cannot be justified on grounds of training moral or discipline.

EVOLUTION PATTERN

T.D.F. of The Ottawa Citizen

Sault Star, the paper that says a wolf never et a man (or vice versa, we suppose), in another moment of fantasy makes the equally startling statement that "the 1840 Cunarder Britannia, shorn of her paddle-wheels, masts and funnel, could be upended and inserted in one of the funnels of the Queen Mary." Imagine that happening! But what of it! In the natural course of events, no doubt, there will some day be a boat big enough to insert the Queen Mary in its funnel. Ain't the evolution of shipbuilding wonderful!

Suggestion-Box

The Times of London

There is some law in human nature whereby anything in the nature of a suggestion-book sooner or later brings out in those who use it a lamentable streak of waggishness. The early entries are often wholly free from this taint. Serious, constructive, practical, and urbane, they call attention to remediable inconveniences, and outline in respectful terms suggested remedies. For a time all goes swimmingly. Then, sure as fate, along comes some witty fellow with a facetious and probably rather disgraceful proposal. His example is followed by others and the rot sets in.

2 Jewish Groups Clash In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Two rival Jewish groups, said to represent supporters of the Hagana resistance movement in Palestine and the extremist Irgun Zvai Leumi, clashed at a meeting Tuesday night and one fist fight was reported.

The meeting, called by the Montreal United Revisionist-Zionist organization, which backs Irgun's fight against the British administration in Palestine, was interrupted when a small group of men, said to be Hagana supporters, burst into the hall.

Mixing Concrete Is Hot Job When Mercury At 72

With the mercury at 72, Tuesday was a hot day for just basking on the beach doing nothing, let alone mixing concrete on the Dallas Road. But here are, left to right, W. J. Rippon and Dave and John Burnett, occupied in the hot-weather job. 'Twill be cooler today for concrete mixers, however, with the forecast telling of "variable cloudiness with light winds and temperature normal." Normal temperature, according to William Burton of the Meteorological Observatory, is about 60.

Art Quiz Thursday At Little Centre

An art quiz will be held at the Little Centre tomorrow night at 8.30. K. C. Symons, well-known Victoria educationalist and formerly headmaster of St. Michael's School, will act as master of ceremonies. Experts will be Mme. Sanderson-Mongin, teacher and lecturer; Mrs. Barbara Woodward, a local artist who recently held a successful show at the Vancouver Art Gallery; H. Tasker-Taylor, an artist of wide experience, and E. Colchester, art master at Brentwood College.

Questions, which have been sent in by members of the Little Centre and others who are interested, are on art, painting and related subjects.

Two prizes, National Gallery reproductions of Canadian paintings, will be given for questions which "stump the experts." After the quiz, the social committee will serve refreshments.

Builders To Meet

The annual general meeting of the Victoria Builders' Exchange will be held June 2 in the Empress Hotel. W. C. Mainwaring will address the meeting on the subject "Business is Moving to B.C.", in which he will attempt to explain how the advent of new industries affects the construction business. Election of officers will take place.

Ralph C. Pybus, of the Contractors' Association of Vancouver, and R. J. Lecky, secretary of the Building and Constructing Industries of Vancouver, will attend the meeting.

Memorial Service For Scottish Dead In 2 Wars June 8

Soldiers of the Canadian Scottish Regiment who paid the supreme sacrifice as the First Battalion and the old 16th Battalion fought the Hun on European soil in two world conflicts will be honored at an official memorial service in Pioneer Square on June 8. It will start at 3.45.

Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks, honorary colonel of the regiment, will unveil a memorial to their memory.

The old memorial honoring the dead of the old 16th Battalion—the unit which formed the nucleus of the present-day regiment—will remain, but a new inscription has been devised to honor the dead of the regiment in both conflicts.

It was just two days earlier—June 6—in 1944, that the "Fighting First" made their first land assault against the Nazis on the Normandy Beaches. Like their comrades of the old 16th, the members of the 1939-45 edition of the fighting Scottish battalion established a brilliant record as they hewed their way across northwest Europe.

Invitations have been extended to all former members of the regiment to be present. Also invited to participate in the service are all relatives and friends of those who died in action.

The padre of the regiment, Hon. Capt. G. A. Reynolds, will officiate at the service.

Accidental Death In Rail Crash

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—A verdict that John Luciuk, 61, came to his death as a result of an accidental collision between a yard engine and a section crew speeder last Saturday in the Canadian National Railway yards here, was returned by a coroner's jury Tuesday night. Coroner M. W. Skinner presided.

The jury recorded its opinion that "we feel that a proper lookout was not observed on the part of all parties concerned." It recommended Rule 103 of the operating rules be applied within yard limits. The rule provides a flagman must take a conspicuous position on the lead car "except when shifting or making up trains in a yard."

Famous Ghosts To Move As Britain Builds New Foreign Office

LONDON (CP)—Some famous ghosts will be disturbed in a year or so as carpenters and builders move into Carlton House Terrace and start hammering out a new home for the Foreign Office.

Where 16 noble mansions now stand on either side of the Duke of York's steps, overlooking the Mall and St. James' Park, a modern block is to be erected for the diplomats and huge clerical staff required to deal with today's foreign affairs.

The silk-clad legs of girl stenographers will flash along the sidewalks that once knew the weighty step of such dignitaries as Lord Palmerston and Mr. Gladstone. Dispatch riders will roar along a roadway over which carriages once rolled to stately parties.

Some houses already have been taken over by the Foreign Office and the Ministry of National Insurance. At the far end of the terrace, next to Marlborough House, where Queen mother Mary lives, is No. 1 Carlton Gardens, Foreign Secretary Bevin's official residence.

It's been painted recently—a bright yellow cream that makes it stand out from its dingy neighbors. Soon workmen will move in and start modernizing its interior.

Mindful, no doubt, of the cries that go up when historic buildings are threatened, the architects have designed the new building to preserve the Nash facade built along the Mall in 1830. Thus when the Royal Family drives from Trafalgar Square to Buckingham Palace, the view of their right will be the same that William IV regarded.

Some of Britain's most famous clubs are along the adjacent streets—places like Boodle's, Brook's and the Carlton. But the sightseer will be hard put to find them, however versed he is in history, for most of them conceal their identities behind facades thick with London soot, but unmarked by anything as vulgar as a brass plate.

Kiwanians Note Progress Of Year

A special "Let's Pause and Take Stock" program was presented to members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday. During the meeting members of the club's board of directors reported progress of various committees since the first of this year.

Reports were given by N. H. Ingledew, boys' work and attendance committees; T. G. Denny, social; Walter Walker, public affairs; Sam Clack, program; A. M. Stewart, interclub; M. V. Chestnut, aims and objectives and junior safety patrol; Denis Hagar, membership and classification; Chas. Mullins, sports; John Smith, support of churches and music; William Patterson, publicity; William Hamilton, properties and reception, and Charlie Ferber, education.

Past-president Denis Hagar told the members the Royal Jubilee Hospital was seriously overcrowded and lacked many facilities. He said a general canvass would be held early next year to raise $42,000 for capital improvements to the hospital. This money would be spent for nurses' accommodation, elevators and expansion and alteration to the lower floor of the hospital.

At present, Mr. Hagar said, the pharmacy staff has to put up 120 prescriptions a day in a space designed for one third of that number; the laboratory has overflowed to six rooms formerly occupied by patients and emergency rooms are being used as general rooms. "In 1939 the average number of 'in' patients per day was 267. Today that figure has been boosted to more than 400," he said.

Mr. Hagar noted the Kiwanis Club had donated a total of over $63,000 toward capital improvements to this hospital during the past 13 years, and asked the club to support the new undertaking. He suggested the club undertake to sponsor the drive.

Junior Chamber Discusses Program

Need for more vigorous programs to stimuate member interest and better attendance at the regular meeting of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce was stressed at a general meeting of the membership held Tuesday evening in the Empress Hotel.

It was suggested to the program committee that varied speakers and motion pictures of specific interest be arranged for presentation at the weekly luncheon meetings of the group. It was decided to start plans for an active autumn program which will include a banquet and smoker.

Hope was expressed that next year's national convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held in Victoria. A committee was appointed to see if this could be arranged.

The meeting endorsed a resolution passed by the New Westminster Junior Board of Trade, to be presented at this year's national convention at Harrison Hot Springs, in July, calling for instruction of safe driving in all senior high schools throughout the province.

Victoria Girl Runs Own Cruiser

Miss Gertrude Paul, at the wheel of the cruiser Dunrone, in which she takes fishing parties, picnic parties or just cruising parties out from Cowichan Bay during the tourist and fishing season.

A happy-go-lucky nature, a deep chuckling laugh, bright rosy cheeks and twinkling blue eyes, all add to the popularity of Miss Gertrude Paul, who is one-woman captain and crew of the cruiser Dunrone.

Daughter of A. S. "Budge" Paul of Victoria, and granddaughter of the late Dr. E. B. Paul, Gertrude went to school in the city, but when she began to grow up, the idea of working in an office "just didn't appeal" to her.

When she was a small girl she lived at Cowichan Bay with her parents, and she had made many friends there. She had learned to love the sea and boats and always in the back of her mind was the thought of going back there to live.

Ready to go to work, she did go back to the Cowichan Valley, to work in a bank at Duncan, but the call of the outdoors was too strong and it wasn't long until she was spending most of her time at the bay.

She started tying flies for fishermen and made such a success of it that she had quite a large group of clients. But during the war years it was too hard to get the proper materials so she gave that up and "got herself a boat," as she tells you with a chuckle.

Now, she is in ousiness for herself, and it's proving quite a lucrative business, too. This year, she plans to start her fly-tying again, and in her spare time, as a sideline, she does the cooking in a small tourist eating place at Cowichan Bay.

Right now she is on holiday With Miss Rosemary Bell-Irving, Cowichan Bay, a student at University of British Columbia, she brought the Dunrone down to Victoria recently for overhaul.

When the cruiser was all "shipshape" the girls returned to Cowichan Bay, stowed their baggage aboard and set out for Seattle, cruising through the islands of the Gulf and the Puget Sound. They expect to spend a week or more in American waters. On their return Miss Paul will be right into the summer season. She'll be taking out parties regularly.

The cap she wears was given her by an American naval officer

"I keep it for luck," she says, "and it gives me a very nautical look, don't you think?"

Dionne Quints 13 Years Today

CALLANDER, Ont. (CP) — They're smart but not sports-minded, they're neatly dressed but not clothes conscious—that's the Dionne quintuplets in a nutshell as they celebrate their 13th birthday at their palatial home near here today.

As the healthy sisters excitedly opened their gifts they bore little resemblance to the infants born in a humble northland farm home on a sunny May morning in 1934, when Annette, Cecile, Marie, Yvonne and Emilie defied medical science because they lived.

Disclosures from the nuns who teach the children and from the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, showed that although the quints indulge in popular games it is 'only in a casual way."

School work and music are their chief interests. Mr. Dionne has one worry—the quints can't swim because they have never had the opportunity to learn. He's considering construction of a private swimming pool on his farm estate.

The girls have completed their sixth grade in school and in June, 1948, they will write high school entrance examinations. Rev. Sister Aime De Anges, in charge of their education, gave the quints a holiday from school today to admire watches and necklaces from their mother and father, among other gifts.

Tomorrow the girls will be back at their studies, including mathematics and French in the morning and science and English in the afternoon. The nuns believe that the quints are as far advanced in English as any other French-Canadian children of the same age.

All five have a keen appreciation of music and are becoming accomplished pianists. They sing and dance exceptionally well and don't seem to mind an audience.

Cecile has the most initiative. Annette is the most industrious. Yvonne is "the deepest in mind." Marie, always the smallest, is still "the youngest in character but she is very sweet."

Emilie, most boyish of the five for a long time, is just the opposite now. She is the "most feminine."

Flannel Dance In June

Under the auspices of the Royal Jubilee Hospital Alumnae, a flannel dance will be held at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club June 5. Len Acres' Orchestra will provide music for dancing from 9 to 1, and during the evening refreshments will be served. Convening the affair is Mrs. Zoe Harman.

Take half a glass of currant jelly, half a cup of chutney, juice of half a lemon, season with salt and pepper, heat and serve with lamb chops.

To Be Feted On Golden Wedding Day

Principals Thursday evening at a party to be given by Army and Navy Veterans will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Obee, 644 Speed Avenue, who on that day observe their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Obee is well known in the city through his years of comedy entertaining for many worthy causes, including the armed forces during war years. He served in the South African Campaign, and during World War I joined the 88th Royal Victoria Fusiliers, going overseas with the 103rd Battalion.

The couple were married at St. Mary's Cray, Kent, by Rev. Carrol, and came from London 36 years ago to reside in Victoria. They have two sons, Thomas J. Obee, aboard the survey ship William J. Stewart, and Joseph Frank Obee, Victoria; and four daughters, Mrs. S. Dunberk, Dawson City; Mrs. C. L. Luckovitch, Seattle; Mrs. A. McCormick, Ocean Falls, and Mrs. E. Eve, Sooke.

Miss Dien Horstman Marriage Announced

Of interest to many Victorians will be the announcement of the wedding next Saturday in Vancouver of Miss Dien Horstman and Alfonse Pieters, both of Amsterdam, Holland. The ceremony will be performed by Dr. Douglas Telfer in West Point Grey United Church at 3 o'clock.

Miss Horstman will be remembered here as a charming grey-eyed Hollander, who came to Canada a little over a year ago with the sanction of the Netherland government, to teach school and to learn Canadian ways of life.

She spent some months in Victoria and in the interior of British Columbia where she went to pick fruit. In the late autumn she returned to Vancouver and joined the staff of Queen Mary School to teach grade three pupils.

Mr. Pieters, who was interned in Batavia during the war met his fiancee on the boat crossing from Holland to Canada.

The young couple will honeymoon in the Canadian Rockies and eastern States before going to the Dutch Indies to make their home.

Membership Tea

Senior subdivision of the Catholic Women's League held their annual membership tea recently at the home of the president, Mrs. W. W. Rogers.

The tea table was decorated in league colors, blue and gold. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. Bedard, president, Langford subdivision; Mrs. C. D. Macklin, Esquimalt; Mrs. L. Heather, Lake Hill and Mrs. F. Doherty, Oak Bay.

Mrs. Rogers, assisted by Mrs. Blair Reid, provincial chairman of the league, received guests among whom were His Excellency, Rev. James M. Hill, Bishop of Victoria.

Tea was convened by Mrs. S. Hunter, assisted by Mesdames C. Mulcahy, P. C. Shaw, J. Battie, W. Milligan, W. Humphries, A. McDonald, W. R. Martin, R. Kissinger, M. Hartnell and A. Lagace.

During the afternoon, Mrs. A. Grant and Mrs. Rogers sang solo numbers accompanied by Mrs. G. Coles.

In Step With Style

Paris Favorite—Ranking favorite with many French designers is the separate bright jacket which doubles in brass. It teams up now with a slender black wool dress and later on with light silk frocks. Also finding favor is the cape jacket, a new idea in toppers.

Pace-Setting—Shoe stylists predict that tall platform soles, nailhead trim and open toe models will soon be as dated as high button gaiters. Neat, fully closed footwear rates at the top of the list, with well-cut sling pumps running second in the fashion's plan. Reason for this trend toward less conspicuous more flattering pedal coverage, is the natural evolution of accessory items for effective co-ordination with the ultra-feminine styles of the coming season.

Glove Importance — When wearing bright gloves it is well to limit the matching accessory to one item — a scarf, pocket kerchief, corsage bouquet. The moving hand becomes an effectively stellar attraction if the supporting bits are purposely played down.

Impressive—Shadowy play of one fabric over another to create a diaphonous, filmy look in evening dresses is a technique being used for new formal styles born of unrestricted use of fabric. Frost ywhite chiffon veiled polka dots and black point d'sprit or net floated over prints and plaids, simulate a subtle illusion of depth.

Double-Duty—Accepting a "dress optional" invitation has been simplified by the introduction of double-duty costumes that add or subtract jackets, capelets, apron peplum and full overskirts for quick adapting of an ensemble to meet casual or formal requirements.

Magic—Add fresh life to last year's summer chapeau. Artificial posies or leaves will revive like magic if held over steam from a boiling kettle until shape is regained.

Teen-agers' Must — Summer town-wear for teen-agers is as washable as faces. Darker cottons and rayons which dodge dirt and defy heat have proved their color-fastness and washability.

It's In the Bag—New handbag fashions take their designs from desk blotters, carpet bags, lunch baskets and functional boxes. The lowly feed box, for example, is the granddaddy of a fashionable shoulder bag. The old-fashioned carpet bag bows to a modern encore which is a copy of its attic counterpart except for size.

Perky — Gaily registering a natural affinity for daytime suits and dress are the bonnets featuring multi-colored taffeta trim. Crisp bows add a perky touch to that smart new brim on a profile-revealing slant.

Boudoir Fashions—Fragile fabrics softly tailored into bed jackets ensemble with nightgowns of similar design for high style boudoir fashion.

I.O.D.E. Discusses Radios And Films

TORONTO (CP) — Slipshod thinking which is responsible for much of present-day "bewilderment and uncertainties" may be partially the result of the "easy" education of radio and films, delegates were told yesterday during sessions of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire annual meeting.

"Please do not think I'm minimizing the value of radio and flims," said Mrs. J. D. Detwiler of London, Ont., national educational secretary. ". . . both give us information without any effort on our part and help develop a new generation with a wide range of knowledge.

"But with this easy means of acquiring information some of the thoroughness is lost, and there has become a lack of mental discipline," she said.

A recent I.O.D.E. dominion-wide survey of reading material for young persons disclosed that children and young persons seem to prefer the "comics" and cheap sensational type of magazine, she said.

The survey followed a resolution from Saskatchewan in connection with "penny dreadfuls," and resulted in suggestions that more children's libraries be established in Canada. It was also recommended that parents be urged to buy more good books for the home.

During evening sessions members attended a lecture by Dr. Watson Kirkconnell of Hamilton on "The Communist threat to Canada." He urged Canadians learn to "Distinguish between the honest reformers in our communities and these authentic Communists whose aim is the destruction of all we live for."

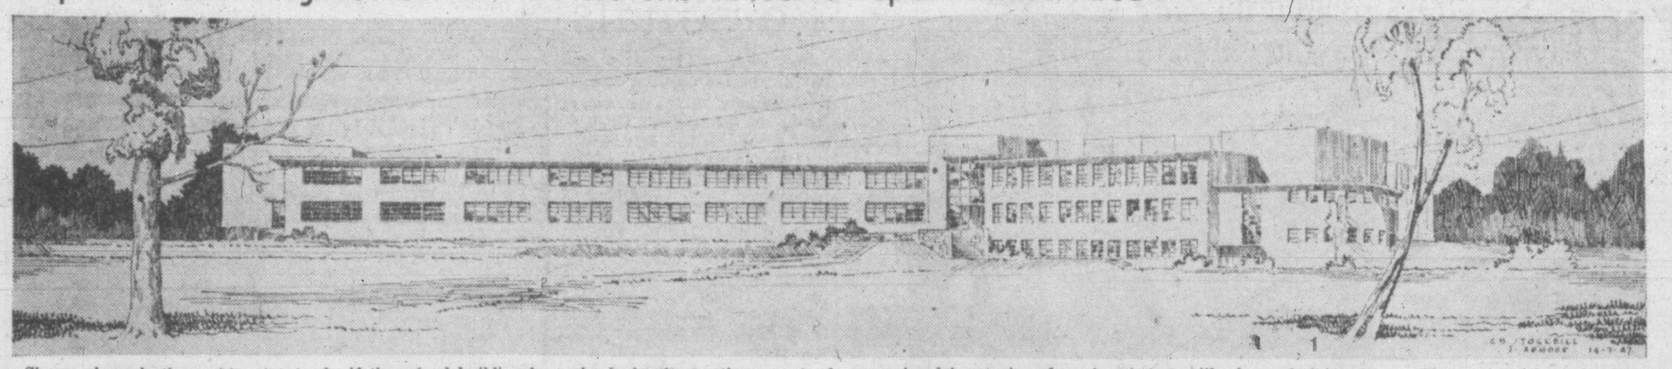
Proposed Junior High School On 15-Acre Site To Serve Topaz Avenue Area



Shown above is the architect's drawing of the $666,000 junior high school which will be placed on a 15-acre site on Topaz Avenue, where the provincial vault stands, if the school building by-law passes June 19.

The building is designed to accommodate 640 pupils and will relieve much of the overcrowding at Oaklands and other schools in the northern part of Victoria and the southern part of Saanich, as well as Victoria High School.

It will contain 16 classrooms, one commercial room, two home economics laboratories, four industrial arts shops, one science laboratory, one music room, two libraries and study halls, an art room and a cafeteria which will seat 190 at a time. In addition there will be administration offices, a gymnasium, 90 by 120 feet with moveable partitions, and an auditorium to seat 750. This will have a stage 36 by 68 feet.

The equipment to furnish the school is estimated to cost $30,000, which is included in the $666,000 figure. The provincial government will bear 50 per cent of the cost.

2 Girls Escape But Boys Captured

VANCOUVER (CP) — With sirens screaming, police Tuesday night chased two youths and two girls in a stolen car across 11 blocks in the Mount Pleasant district and captured the two youths after firing two shots, but the girls fled. One of the youths, 18, was charged with auto theft while his younger companion was held without charge in the juvenile home.

Literal Rain Of Death Planned By Scientists If War Again Comes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists are weighing the possibility of exploding an atomic bomb in the midst of storm clouds to create a literal rain of death.

The advantage of this technique, experts studying the plan told a reporter today, is that a city far inland could be drenched with radioactivity without the necessity of exploding a bomb under water, as was done in the Bikini experiments.

Until now, coastal cities or those near large rivers or lakes were the most probable targets for such a type of atomic bombing.

There is, however, a definite possibility the very power and heat of the bomb might foil the plan.

Some scientists contend a bomb exploded in a cloud bank might first blast the cloud away and then dissipate its moisture high into the air and away from the target.

But proponents of the idea say it would be necessary only to watch the drift of weather toward a target and select a day when rain clouds several thousand feet thick were floating overhead. Radar would pick up the target for the bombing plane, and the bomb would be exploded in the thick of the storm. Rain falling from the clouds would be poisoned with the deadly by-product of the bomb's explosion.

Military strategists also are eyeing rain clouds in connection with another recent scientific discovery, creation of artimical snow or rainstorms by the release of "dry ice" or solid carbon dioxide into clouds.

Airmen see military value in the dry ice technique if it can be developed to the point where a whole cloud mass can be turned into water and precipitated.

Morrison Optimistic Of Talks For British-Russian Trade Pact

MARGATE, Eng. (CP) — Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison told the Labor Party's annual conference today he hoped Britain soon would reach a mutually beneficial trade agreement with Russia.

At the same time he intimated Britain does not want another loan from the United States.

"We cannot live indefinitely on overdrafts without heading into an economic and financial smash," he declared. A piling up of financial obligations, he added, "would damage the workers and smash the Labor Party."

Of the hoped-for trade agreement he said:

"Nowadays we hear a great deal about the differences between ourselves and the Russians. It may not be a bad thing to remember some of the likenesses between their economic position and ours.

BRIEFER TROUBLE PERIOD

"Though our problem is easier, our ordeal can be much shorter, and I believe our democratic methods will end by standing up to any comparisons with totalitarian systems."

Results of preliminary British-Soviet trade discussions in Moscow several weeks ago were "promising," Morrison said.

Opening a debate on manpower, and economic planning, the Deputy Prime Minister told Britain's workers they would have to work harder without wage increases to save the country from bankruptcy.

"We've got to turn out the goods or bust," he declared. "To day any avoidable strike — whether caused by employers or workers—is sabotage. And an unofficial strike is sabotage with violence to the body of the labor movement itself."

A soak-the-rich policy, he told his colleagues, was not the answer to Britain's economic ills.

To what he called Britain's "drones," Morrison directed this warning:

"We have no hands and brains to waste, and no resources to fritter away on those who don't contribute to our common effort. Let us point the finger of public scorn at such parasites who make themselves comfortable at the expense of the whole community."

Meanwhile the party's executive prepared to announce to convention delegates it has accepted as a statement of party policy a pamphlet backing up Foreign Secretary Bevin and telling Russia the United States could not be a world aggressor without Britain's concurrence.

CRITICISM NOT NEEDED

The pamphlet, "Cards Upon the Table," was published recently by party headquarters and was adopted by the executive Tuesday night. Tomorrow the delegates will hear Bevin's report on his policies and the question of dissension on the part of some delegates will be brought out.

The pamphlet adopted by the executive maintains that the nature of miltary co-operation between Britain and the United States makes it impossible for either to fight if the other remains neutral. Throughout the article runs the argument that Russia should realize its policy of criticism of Britain has been "impractical and unnecessary."

Red Cross Awards Honor 3 Here

Service badges for their work with the Victoria division of the Canadian Red Cross Society have been presented to Mrs. Irene Boyd, Robert Knight and W. P. D. Pemberton. Presentations were made by F. M. Jones, vice-president of the executive, in the absence of the president, Maj.-Gen. R. O. Alexander.

Gen. Alexander's resignation as chairman of the blood donor committee was accepted with regret and Lt.-Col. M. D. Robertson was appointed as his successor.

It was announced that the Red Cross mobile blood clinic will be in this city June 4. The clinic will again operate at the Britannia Branch rooms, Cormorant and Blanshard Streets. It is hoped a large number of blood donors will be available for this visit. Anyone willing to make a contribution is asked to contact the Red Cross headquarters and appointments will be made to suit the individual donors.

Government Beats Combined Vote Of Opposition On Non-Confidence

OTTAWA (CP) — The government outvoted a united opposition twice in the Commons Tuesday night to defeat C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative motions of non-confidence and bring the lengthy budget debate to a weary halt.

That of the C.C.F.—Defeated 109 to 91—criticized the government for failure to raise the basic income tax exemptions and provied tax relief for those who do not earn enough to pay income taxes. It was supported by the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties.

Then the House turned to the Progressive Conservative motion, backed by the C.C.F. and Social Credit groups, and defeated it 109 to 90. This criticized the administration for failure to remove indirect and hidden taxes, to encourage development of natural resources and to reconvene the Dominion-Provincial conference.

Finance Minister Abbott said the oposition had been "hard put" to find any effective criticism of budget proposals.

SCORES COMMUNISM

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, launched an attack on Communists and urged the government to "mop up" on Communism in Canada.

"What is mainly needed now," he said, "is to let the Communists know, in a very frank but nevertheless friendly way, that, so far as we are concerned, they are entitled to their own type of economy, so long as they desire it, but that we have no use for their underground activities in this country, and that we propose to send their agents back home wherever we can root them out."

Garfield Case, P.C., Grey North, Ont., sought unsuccessfully to find out with whom Canada was at war.

Rising as the House began detailed study of the War Revenue Act, Mr. Case said it was apparent that Canada still was at war, but he did not know with whom.

He had sent notes across the floor to government ministers hoping that some with whom he was in favor would advise him of the belligerent nation, but without success.

Finally, Finance Minister Abbott rose to advise Mr. Case that it was planned to delete the word "war" from the act.

BANK PROPOSAL

Hazen Argue, C.C.F., Ewood Mountain, Sask., made a request that the government nationalize the banks as a means of preventing another depression. He said talk of a depression was becoming more widespread.

The government should, he said, take over control of the chartered banks and face up to the situation. For every dollar the banks made on loans, they made three on government securities.

Finance Minister Abbott said he was not yet in a position to make a statement on whether any action would be taken to prevent gold companies from hoarding gold in anticipation of a higher price.

J. G. Langlois, Lib., Gaspe, Que., in the name of French-speaking Liberal Members challenged Premier Duplessis of Quebec to call a general election immediately on the Dominion-Provincial taxation agreement issue.

Sub-Standard Homes Still Housing Millions Of Britons

LONDON (Reuter) — Today, more than two years after the final crash of Nazi Germany, Britain's No. 1 social problem is housing. Millions of men, women and children are still living in inadequate, sub-standard dwellings.

The recent acknowledgement by Health Minister Bevan that the government had to abandon the 1947 target of 240,000 completed houses was a stinging blow to everyone. Unofficial observers now believe another five years will elapse before the first postwar objective of a separate dwelling for every family is achieved.

After that, at least another 4,000,000 homes will have to be built under a long range rehousing and slum demolition plan before Britain can be described as well-housed.

Here, briefly, is the background:

Before the war, except during the depression period, standards of living and family home requirements had been steadily rising. But the war building activity was negligible, and when peace returned it was estimated 750,000 new houses were needed to give every family a separate dwelling.

Britain's record building period was from 1937 to 1938, when 330,000 houses were built by 1,050,000 men engaged in building and civil engineering. Today approximately 1,250,000 men are engaged and at the end of March, were working on a total of 220,000 permanent and nearly 60,000 temporary homes.

Up to the end of 1946, 170,000 families had been found accommodation by repair and renovation of bombed dwellings and 150,000 had been put into new homes.

Speaks Here June 11

H. T. Bishop, O.B.E., R.N., general secretary of the Navy League, England, will address the Canadian Club at a luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel, June 11. Mr. Bishop will arrive from Vancouver June 8 and will remain in Victoria until midnight June 11.

The visitor is making a trip across Canada under the auspices of the Navy League of Canada. He is visiting the various Navy League Divisions and obtaining first-hand knowledge of Canadian Navy League affairs generally.

Would Aid Defence

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Marshall testified today that completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway would aid "immeasurably" in United States-Canadian defence of the North American continent. Marshall appeared with former President Herbert Hoover and others before a Senate foreign relations sub-committee considering new legislation providing for the authorization of the $500,000,000 international development.

BIG TOURIST SEASON AHEAD!

THE THOMPSONS are busy as bees, getting their place in shape for the tourist season. This year, with three more cabins, electricity and a modernized kitchen, they hope to do even better than before.

They were able to make these additions because last fall Mr. Thompson drove to town to see his bank manager. He knew about the nice little business the Thompsons had built up; a bank loan was quickly arranged.

Now the Thompsons can handle more tourists and increase their income. At the same time Canada will benefit from the extra tourist dollars they take in.

THIS IS ONE INSTANCE of how Canada's 3,200 branch banks play their part in the daily life and work of Canadians.

The DOCTOR Says:

MODERATION IS HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE RULE

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Patients with high blood pressure will understand and accept their condition better if they bring their problems to a physician in whom they have confidence. As a patient acquires a better knowledge of his own case, he can co-operate more effectively with his physician.

When high blood pressure is discovered in a patient, usually it is not wise for the physician to order a sudden change from an active life to a rigid routine in which there is nothing but rest, as this induces preoccupation with self. Most patients do better if they are allowed to continue their job, but alternating periods of work and rest are valuable.

Special diets are aimed at weight reduction (low calorie) or the control of the disease itself (Kempner diet). There isn't any scientific reason for high blood pressure patients to eat less protein foods. Low salt diets should not be followed unless a physician prescribes them.

Non-smokers live longer than smokers according to most statisticians. Smokers are of two types, those who relax their tension with a pipe full of tobacco, a cigar, or a cigarette after a meal and chain smokers who are excessive users of tobacco because they are nervous. Physicians determine the type of smoker before making the recommendation to stop or continue.

Most patients with high blood pressure worry a great deal and suffer with anxieties about their work and health. This keeps them awake at night and if they miss too much sleep, sedatives can be prescribed.

LESS WORK, MORE PLAY

It is quite a blow to the average man or woman to be told that they have high blood pressure. They have heard about the consequences of such a condition and imagine the worse. Many of them do not realize that they have had high pressure for some time and that it may be many years before it begins to trouble them.

Moderation in everything should be the rule of the high blood pressure patient. It may mean less work and more play, less eating and drinking, more sleeping and resting, and the development of a hobby.

MEMBERS OF THREE RELIGIONS SEE IMPORTANCE IN JERUSALEM

Jerusalem is looked upon as a holy place by people of three religions. Jews, Christians and Moslems all feel that it is a city of importance.

The Jews have been interested in Jerusalem longer than the Christians or Moslems. It belonged to them far back in their history, and was their greatest centre of life in ancient times. Solomon's Temple was built there, and the city is close to the hearts of Jews both inside and outside of Palestine.

Christians think of Jerusalem as a holy city because it played a big part in the life of Jesus. It is the place where Jesus was crucified and buried.

Millions of tourists have visited Jerusalem, and great numbers of these have been Christians. One place which a Christian tourist is sure to visit is the Via Dolorosa, a narrow street with a name which means "Way of Sorrow." There is a tradition that Jesus walked along the Via Dolorosa while carrying the cross to Calvary.

The Moslems, or followers of Mohammed, say that Jerusalem is one of three holy cities, coming after Mecca and Medina. The Moslems think of Mohammed as their greatest prophet, but they also speak of both Moses and Jesus as prophets.

A strange belief is held by many Moslems. The belief is about the Last Judgment.

According to the tale, the people of the world will gather near a section of the wall around Jerusalem on the day of the Last Judgment. This section contains the Damascus Gate.

A guide may show you a piece of rounded masonry standing out from the wall about 30 feet above the ground, and may say:

"Mohammed is going to take his seat there at the time of the Last Judgment. He will watch the people as they go through the test.

"Across the valley, reaching to the Mount of Olives, will be a bridge as narrow as the blade of a Damascus sword. A good Moslem will be able to cross that bridge as safely as a good acrobat walks a tightrope. People without the true faith of Mohammed will fall into the valley below, and will be taken to their place of suffering."

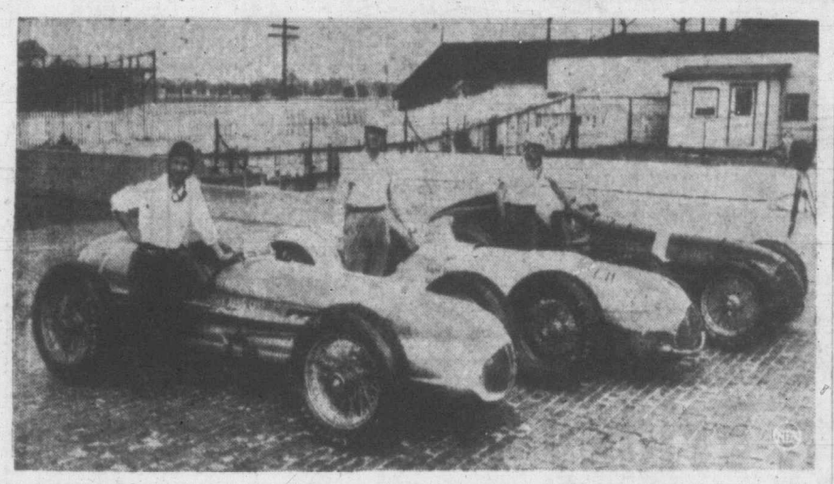
Crack Drivers Set For 500-Mile Auto Race



Lined up on Indianapolis, Ind., speedway all ready for the annual 500-mile automobile race Friday are Mauri Rose, Cliff Bergere and Ted Horn. The three drivers represent the front row for this year's Memorial Day classic.

U.S. Stars Continue British Golf Wins

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (CP)—Skee Riegel of Glendale, Calif., defeated his Walker Cup teammate, George Hamar of Columbus, Ga., 6 and 5 in their second-round match today in the British amateur golf championship. Riegel was even fours for the exacting Carnoustie course when the match ended.

Francis Ouimet, non-playing captain of the American Walker Cup team, joined Riegel in the third round by defeating Oliver Wynn of London 5 and 4.

Ellis Knowles of Rye, N.Y., 60-year-old United States national seniors champion, ousted Keith Bridston, Edinburgh divinity student, 3 and 2 in another second-round match. In all, 54 matches, in the second and third rounds, were scheduled for today.

One of England's main hopes, Leonard Crawley, defeated the Glasgow player, B. Lennox, 3 and 1.

Bob Sweeny of New York and London, an alternate on the American Walker Cup team, scored a 5 and 3 victory over his teammate Fred Kammer of Detroit in another second-round match.

Ted Bishop, U.S. amateur champion, led the American contingent into the fourth round today with a 3 and 1 victory over Gerald Owens of Dublin. In gaining the last 32 Bishop was far below his brilliant form of yesterday.

Bud Ward quickly followed into the fourth round with a 4 and 3 victory over Ed Hamilton of London. Willie Turnesa then continued the parade of American contenders through the third round with an easy 5 and 4 win over Douglas Wright of the Carnoustie club.

ED KONETCHY DIES

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Edward J. Konetchy, 62, who as "Big Ed" and "Koney" helped create some of the brightest pages in the histories of the National and Texas baseball leagues, died Tuesday.

Except for brief spans, when he took flings at running teams in the Wisconsin State League and the old Rio Grande Valley League Koney had lived in Fort Worth since 1925 when he was the greatest one-year star the Fort Worth baseball club has ever had.

Jean Suffern Clouts Home Run To Give Eaglettes Victory

A three-run homer by first baseman Jean Suffern in the sixth inning gave Eaglettes a thrilling 5 to 3 victory over Adverts in a women's A softball league game last night and moved them into first place in the league standings.

In smashing the game-winning blow, Jean Suffern hit what is regarded as one of the longest blows of the season. Donna Taylor was the winning pitcher.

In a women's senior B game, Don Harvey Enterprises blasted Hot Shots to the tune of 17 to 8.

SENIOR B MEN

The fliers of Pat Bay had little trouble in defeating City Merchants, 13 to 7, scoring five big runs in the first inning and adding five more in the third. Army and Navy Vets bounced Sidco's, 15 to 7, and Dominion Meat Market beat Penguin Cafe, 12 to 6, in other senior B contests.

In the junior division, Black and White Taxi defeated Esquimalt Schooners, 16 to 11, to move into a first-place tie in the league standings. Lake Hill defeated St. Saviour's, 7 to 3, in a church league game.

Oakland Continues Winning Streak In Coast League

Los Angeles and San Francisco, slugging each other into a first-place tie in the Coast League may not have time to look behind them today but they ought to—Oakland is right there!

When this week's commotion began yesterday the Angels were a game in front of the Seals and the Oaks were in third place, two games out. When the firing ended last night Casey Stengel's Acorns were only one game behind the even-Stephen leaders.

And the way the Oaks have been hitting the ball far and wide they might bust right out of the top of the standings column before the week is out.

The Seals snatched away Los Angels' lead, 7 to 5, by means of a six-run eighth inning.

Oakland took the twinkle out of the Hollywood Stars, 9 to 1, to get in position to breathe hotly down the leaders' necks.

Portland's Roy Helser pitched himself a four-hit, 8 to 0 shutout of Seattle, with left-handed Beaver batters helping their lefty hurler with three home runs.

A ninth-inning triple by Ed Fitzgerald scored the tying and winning runs as Sacramento trimmed San Diego, 5 to 4.

Gladson, Firth Star In Midget Baseball

Midget teams of the Minor Baseball Association took over last night and results of the games showed increased improvement on the part of the pitchers, with Red Gladson of Victoria Bottle Exchange and Ian Firth of Henderson Bros. turning in smart hill chores.

Gladson blanked Tillicums, 6 to 0, while Firth was the big factor in his team's 7 to 2 win over Ace Woodworkers. Spencers defeated Cameron Lumber, 17 to 8, in the third fixture of the evening.

Detroit Mound Staff In Brilliant Stand

American League batsmen were moaning "Tiger stay away from my door," today—and with good reason, Detroit Tigers' pitching has simply been poison to enemy batters this season. Rival managers were hopeful that once they got by Hal Newhouser, Dizzy Trout, Virgil Trucks and Freddy Hutchinson they might have a breather with one of the so-called second-line hurlers, but it simply hasn't worked out that way.

The "second stringers" have proven to be tougher to beat than the regulars. In fact, of the six decisions registered by secondary pitchers Hal White, Stubby Overmire and Al Benton, only one has gone against them. Benton, who leads the entire Tiger staff with three wins against no defeats, whipped Cleveland Indians 4 to 2 yesterday. His triumph came over the great Bobby Feller and increased the Tigers' first-place lead in the American League to four full games.

After Benton had allowed three hits and one run in seven innings, Manager Steve O'Neill took no chances and relieved with Newhouser who protected the Tiger lead.

Chicago Cubs took over first place in the National League when they inflicted the first night defeat of the season on St. Louis Cardinals, 10 to 3, while New York Giants were bowing to Brooklyn at the Polo Grounds 7 to 3. Lefty Bob Chipman gained his third win over the Cardinals, scattering 11 hits.

BRANCA GOES GOOD

Ralph Branca had one of his good nights, holding the Giants to seven hits and striking out 10 to spoil the home return of the Polo Grounders. The crowd of crowd of 51,780 fans, was the largest ever to witness a National League night game. Big blow of the game was Pee Wee Reese's three-run homer off losing pitcher Dave Koslo in the third.

Johnny Sain gained his fourth victory of the season for Boston as the Braves took a 7 to 3 decision from Philadelphia Phillies.

Glen Russell's first home run of the season with two mates aboard enabled Boston Red Sox to snap a four-game losing streak and stop Philadelphia Athletics' run of night game victories at seven. The homer gave the Sox a 4 to 2 triumph.

Washington snapped a five-game Yankee winning streak, overcoming a 4 to 0 Yankee lead to defeat the New Yorkers 5 to 4.

Victoria High School Blacks baseballers handed their schoolmates, the Golds, their first defeat of the season, 7 to 5, yesterday to drop Golds into a second-place tie with Oak Bay. Final game of the interhigh schedule brings together the second-place squads.

Bernie Anderson of Golds was tagged for his first loss of the campaign, and went out after the fifth, giving up four hits and six runs. John Moffatt hurled the win, being nicked for all of the loser's runs in the first three innings, but went on to limit Golds to one hit the rest of the way. Moffatt took five on strikes and passed two.

Golds led 5 to 0 till the last of the fourth, when Blacks went on a rampage to tie the contest, putting together three hits, including Connie McBeth's three-run double, an error, a fielder's choice, a walk and stolen base.

Winning runs came in the last of the sixth when Moffatt clouted a triple and scored on a passed ball. Bruce Naylor drew a walk, took second on a fielder's choice, went to third on a wild toss and scored when Evan Oakley lifted a fly to left.

Short scores follow:

By PETE SALLAWAY

THOSE 40 RUNS the Tacoma ball club scored against Vancouver last Saturday may be explained by the fact there are rumors circulating of dissension on Bob Brown's Capilanos. On their showing here against the Athletics the Caps certainly did not look that bad and there should be no reason for their absorbing two such one-sided setbacks. It is rumored that Bob Hall, big right-hander of the Vancouver squad, who looked so good in setting down the A's, has asked for his outright release from Seattle Rainiers. Hall was sent to Vancouver on option by the Coast League club. In addition pitcher Jack Meister showed a great fit of temper when lifted in one of Saturday's games, heaving his glove up against the grandstand and tearing a lock off the clubhouse door. Looks like Mr. Brown and his manager, Bill Brenner, will have to get busy and iron out the differences or bring in some fresh ball players.

CHATTING TO SEVERAL of the Vancouver golfers here last week for the annual provincial amateur championship they all expressed pleasant surprise at the fine crop of players being developed over here. It is their hope that several of this city's top notchers will see their way clear to participate in a number of the tournaments being promoted on the mainland this summer. "We will have several first-class events run off during the next couple of months and we would sure like to see some of your fellows take part," one mainlander said. "Several of our tournaments, within the next few weeks, will have a direct bearing on the Willingdon Cup team selections and it would be to the benefit of the Victoria boys to take part."

DECISION ON THE protest of Manager Ted Norbert of the Athletics, over last Saturday night's game with Bremerton, will not be handed down for another week it was learned today from Bob Abel, Western International League president. From a reliable source I am told that Abel intends to have the resin bag used by pitcher Hub Kittle analyzed and from that report will make his ruling.

THERE IS BAD news for the fans who annually flock to the Kentucky blue grass country. Man O' War, greatest sire of them all, will not be shown this year. A dispatch from Louisville says Big Red, now 30, will be given a summer of complete solitude. It is estimated that more than 1,500,000 persons have visited his pastures since he was retired from the track in January, 1921. Veterinarians say that 30 years for a horse is equivalent of 105 for a human being.

OAK BAY WOMEN WIN

In a women's interclub match at the Victoria Golf Club Tuesday the home side defeated a squad from the Uplands, 6 to 5.

Woop Hurls Victoria To One-Run Victory

Victoria Athletics squeaked through to a 4 to 3 victory over Tacoma Tigers in their W.I.L. game last night to regain second place over Spokane, blasted 10 to 3 by last-place Wenatchee. A's one-run margin resulted from a tie-breaking pair of successive doubles by Leo Righetti and Bill Anske in the eighth inning. The win broke Tacoma's winning streak at four games but left the losers with a 2 to 1 series edge. Clubs play again tonight and Thursday.

Southpaw Bill Woop hurled the victory for Victoria but his wildness nearly proved disastrous. In the first inning he walked three batters which combined with Dick Greco's double scored two runs. Athletics came back with single runs in the third, fourth and fifth for a one-run lead but Tacoma tied it up in the sixth on Miller's single and Tedeschi's triple to left centre.

It was Woop's sixth mound triumph of the season against four defeats. He gave up nine hits as compared to the 13 Victoria collected off portsider Cy Greenlaw. After being lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth, Greenlaw was replaced by Mitch Chetkovich, who loaded the bags in the ninth but escaped damage as pinch hitter Hooper struck out and Anske flied out.

Both clubs were unable to come through in the clutch, the Athletics leaving 13 men stranded on the bases and Tacoma one less.

Pat Patterson and Righetti were the big sticks for the A's, the former having a perfect night with four for four and Righetti picking up three for four including a pair of doubles.

BREMERTON WINS

Bremerton, still moving steadily along with a five and one-half game lead, came up with its second one six-game-winning hurler last night in Johnny Marshall, who limited the Caps to six blows. Vancouver lost a chance to knot the count in the ninth frame when centrefielder Eddie Murphy pulled Charles Mead's long fly off the boards for the third out. Two men were on base.

Yakima bunched 10 hits effectively for two run bursts in the fifth and sixth innings, and single counters in the first and last frames to take the initial game of their Salem series, 6 to 2. Frank Knowles held Salem to seven hits and had a shutout until the eighth when a single, a walk and Hal Summers' double drove in the only Solon tallies.

Vets, Birdmen Meet In Senior Ball Tilt

Coach Bob Wiegand of the Legion is expected to send his ace hurler, Lloyd Cann, to the mound tonight when his second-place squad meets the league-leading Eagles in a senior amateur ball game at Athletic Park tonight.

Eagles strengthened their hold on first place Monday night when they defeated Pitzer & Nex in a thriller, and in an effort to ward off the threat of the Vets, Taylor will probably use curve-balling Stan Davies. Game time is 7.

Ralph Baker Leads Legion To Overtime Lacrosse Win

Manager Ed Hall's Canadian Legion gutted-stick squad had a close squeeze in winning its second straight game of the season at Stevenson Memorial Park last night from Tom Carney's cellar-place James Bay team, taking the bitterly-contested match 10 to 9 in overtime.

Ralph Baker, red-thatched forward, was the individual star of the night for the winners, picking up four markers including the all-important deciding tally in the first overtime period.

Bays came within an ace of bouncing the Legion into the defeated class in the final quarter, when Johnny Bamford broke through with two fast markers to put his team ahead 9 to 8. Duff-McCaghey, rangy Legion sharpshooter, tied the count a few minutes later.

FIGHT SEEN

Fiery Jimmy McKeachie and Bamford took exception to each other's checking methods in the overtime and after a brief exchange were banished with five minute penalties. It was the climax to an extremely hard checking contest that saw both teams lay on the wood in no uncertain terms.

Bamford, O'Connell and Reid, each with two markers, topped the losers in the scoring parade with Daryl Popham picking up two for Legion to take runner-up honors.

Action Thursday night will pit Bill Andrew's Jokers against Foul Bay. Friday Legion will meet Tillicums.

Teams and scores follow:

Legion—Long, McKim, Baker 4, T. McKeachie 1, Ferguson, J. McKeachie 1, Lott, Mason 1, Allen, Malin, Popham 2, Mair, McCaghey 1.

J.B.A.A.—Gawley, Tyson, Lomas, Bamford 2, Coates 1, Rynoski 1, Denoni 1, O'Connell 2, Reid 2, Aitken, Winters.

He's Out—Like A Light!

Louis Fights Exhibitions Waiting For Big-Time Gate

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Joe Louis says that 1948 will be his last year of boxing. The heavyweight champion made the statement yesterday during a discussion of why he has turned down some fight offers recently.

He said there isn't a competitor anywhere right now who will draw a big-time gate, but he believes an able fighter will develop by 1948 to challenge his title.

"But whether there is or not," he added, "I'm not going beyond 1948. That's my last year of boxing."

The champ said he thinks he'll stick to fighting exhibitions for a while until the real thing, in the way of money, comes along, since he has to spend as much as $62,000 in training for a title bout.

Louis made that explanation today in telling why he has turned down some fight offers lately. He phrased the question that most sportsmen have asked when it comes to competition for the champ when he said: "Who is there to fight?"

Louis can get all kinds of fights that will gross about $300,000, "but there isn't one that will draw the big money," he explained.

"As a result," he said, "I'm just going to go along fighting exhibitions. I can make more money on exhibitions than I can or any title fights. Why on the six-week trip to South America we picked up $200,000. On these exhibitions we don't have long training periods and the heavy expense of preparing for a fight."

Louis currently is on a refereeing tour.

Duck Population Shrinks To Alarming 54,000,000

DENVER (AP)—Management of duck hunting by "flyways" from Canada to the south rather than by country-wide regulations in the United States was recommended yesterday by unanimous vote of sportsmen and game administrators attending a regional wild life conference here.

C. N. Feast, director of the Colorado Game and Fish Department, explained that control by "flyways" was deemed necessary because of differing problems in the area.

"For example," Feast said, "we have a serious problem in this area of depredations against crops by birds whereas it may not exist in another region. We certainly must be permitted to take care of it."

A majority also voted to split the duck season if a curtailment is necessary and to reduce the limit if needed. The votes are advisory only.

Under the split season plan, an early season would be held for "pond and lake" shooters and a later season for 'river and cornfield" hunters.

Dr. Claren C. Cottam of Chicago, assistant director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, and W. E. Crouch, chief of the division of game management of the Chicago office of the service, both brought bad news to duck hunting enthusiasts.

They estimated that a critical situation exists for all migratory birds, particularly ducks and geese. The number of ducks has shrunk from 125,000,000 in 1944 to 54,000,000 this year, they reported. The number a year ago was estimated at 80,000,000.

Drought in the nesting areas of Canada and increased pressure of hunting were cited as the chief causes of decline.

Because of this sharp drop in numbers, they said, efforts must be made to preserve sufficient ducks for breeding stock when conditions become better. They said this probably will be accomplished by shortening the hunting season and tightening regulations.

Red Cross To Hold Safety Swim Classes

The annual swimming and water safety school of instruction, sponsored by the Canadian Red Cross, will be held at the Crystal Garden from June 5 to 8, it was announced by Miss Bullock-Webster today.

Classes will take place in the morning, afternoon and evening and will include lectures, and practical and pool demonstrations.

The Red Cross program is designed to train both beginners and advanced swimmers in swimming safety methods and thus combat the high fatality rate due to drowning.

Bob Chesnes Leads Coast Loop Hurlers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie right-hander Bob Chesnes of the San Francisco Seals led Coast League pitchers today, outside of six who have hurled no more than two games, with 10 wins and two defeats. Cliff Chambers, Los Angeles southpaw, who relinquished the top spot to Chesnes, was second with eight victories against two losses.

Strikeout honors were retained by Walter Dubiel, Seattle hurler who has sent 51 batters back from the plate. Averages for the top 10, follow:

Halibut Fishing To End June 8

SEATTLE (AP)—Halibut fishing will be closed in the waters north from Cape Blanco on the Oregon coast to Cape Spencer, southeastern Alaska, at midnight June 8, the International Fisheries Commission announced Tuesday. The catch limit of 24,500,000 pounds is expected to be taken by that date.

The closure is only three days later than last year and to date the big Seattle halibut fleet, tied up in a dispute between fishermen and owners over shares of the catch, has not been on the banks. Canadian and Alaskan fishermen have benefited.

Closed are areas 1-B and 2.

Jet Pilot Drops Out Of Belmont; Arcaro Switched

NEW YORK (AP)—Jet Pilot, winner of the Kentucky Derby only 25 days ago, was scratched Tuesday from Saturday's Belmont Stakes, and the favored Faultless zipped through his final dress rehearsal for the hundred-grand as if he owned the place.

Of more moment to the tall flier the Jones boys have sharpened up for the third leg of the triple crown of the American turf was the announcement that his chief threat, stretch-flying Phalanx, would not be piloted by Eddie Arcaro in the Belmont.

The hardboot Italian was supposed to make Phalanx unbeatable this spring, and when the colt from Virginia took the Wood Memorial last month under Eddie, he looked it. But his failures in the Derby, the Preakness and last Saturday's Peter Pan, with heady Eddie steering, caused trainer Sylvester Veitch to decide on a switch.

Veitch announced that Chilean Ruperto Donoso will ride Phalanx Saturday.

As somewhat of a "consolation" prize, Arcaro will have the leg up on Phalanx's stablemate, Khyber Pass, regarded as more of a sprinter than a stayer up to now.

Trainer Tom Smith made the announcement that the Pilot would sit out the Belmont. There's nothing wrong with the front-flying, mud-loving chestnut, Smith said, that a vacation won't cure.

Faultless took over Belmont's track and skimmed through a snappy mile in 1.39 3-5, clicking off the six furlongs on the way in 1.13 4-5.

Gallup Poll

Lives Of Two-Fifths Of Adults Vitally Affected By Recent War

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE of PUBLIC OPINION

This month of May has marked the second anniversary of the end of World War II in Europe.

Behind the political changes and the broad arena of economic recovery from war lies the quiet spectacle of the intimate human changes in the lives of the people.

A view of this human background is revealed through a Gallup Poll survey among adults of all ages and classes throughout Canada. Reporters of the Institute asked a representative cross-section of the voting-age population:

"Has your own life been changed a great deal because of the war?"

An average of two in every five persons say their lives were notably changed: Life changed a great deal 38 per cent; not changed a great deal 58 per cent; uncertain 4 per cent.

Affected in highest proportion are the ex-service group, over 70 per cent of them reporting major changes in their lives.

The average is otherwise fairly evenly divided among all areas and classes, old and young, farm and city, rich and poor. Almost as many women as men were affected:

	Women	Men
Life changed a great deal	35%	41%
Not changed a great deal	60	56
Uncertain	5	3

The manner in which lives have been changed is revealed in the response to a further question asked of those who were affected:

"Would you mind telling me your life has been changed by the war?"

Most radical changes were experienced by those who were in the services or had close relatives in uniform. The whole pattern of life has been altered for many who lost a loved one, and, most seriously of all, for the disabled and their near relatives.

Economic changes, reported by many, involve, for some, higher income and an improved standard of living; for others, a set-back in education or career, business losses, the drain of taxes, and the burden of higher costs of living.

A good number say the war resulted in their getting married. Some women say the war caused a shortage of eligible men making it "impossible to get married." Many blame the war for their domestic troubles, family separation or divorce.

One of the most frequently mentioned types of change is in people's psychological viewpoint. Some such developments are favorable: "acquired more interest in others, foreign peoples;" "more cheerful about life; more settled;" "more lenient toward others." More, however, are distressed; "worried; uncertain of the future;" "no feeling of security;" "finding it hard to settle down."

Airpark Rezoning By-law Ready June 5

June 5 was mentioned as the date when the by-law calling for the rezoning of Gordon Head acreage for an airpark site will be ready for public hearing, at a meeting of Saanich Council Tuesday night. That date, however, was not definitely established as the day when the public hearing will be held, but that it will probably be held the same week.

The by-law will be presented to residents of the area for approval.

The municipal solicitor's report was read, which pointed out Saanich was responsible for rezoning only three sides of the proposed airpark site and that the fourth side was the responsibility of Oak Bay. The council decided to advise Oak Bay of action to be taken by Saanich.

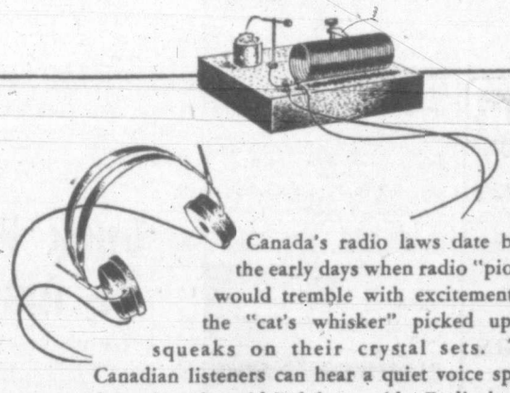
'CRYSTAL SET' RADIO LAWS

GOOD ENOUGH FOR CANADIANS?

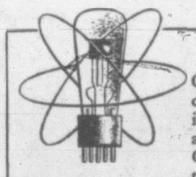


Canada's radio laws date back to the early days when radio "pioneers" would tremble with excitement when the "cat's whisker" picked up some squeaks on their crystal sets. Today Canadian listeners can hear a quiet voice speaking from the other side of the world. Radio has come a long way. But Canada's radio laws have not kept pace.

Canadian radio today is handicapped by a jumble of hand-me-down legislation—an accumulation of laws, regulations, amendments and addenda. As a result of this tangle, the full benefit and enjoyment which a Canadian radio listener has a right to expect, is being curtailed.

To take one example—there is no legal right to freedom of speech on the air in Canada. As matters stand, any "government-of-the-day" could prevent expression by radio of any opinion other than its own. Obviously, no one of the governments responsible for various Acts or regulations had this intention in mind. The situation has arisen simply because the laws were made from time to time like a patchwork quilt. Many of these laws were passed without any idea of what radio would grow into.

The Independent Commercial Radio Stations of Canada believe the Canadian radio listener will take a lively interest in the suggestion that Canada's radio laws should be overhauled. Radio broadcasting in Canada is something which affects every home. It is important to you and to your children that Canadian radio should be free from the restrictions of "Crystal Set" radio laws.



One of a series of public discussions of the future of radio in Canada. Published by an affiliation of 89 Independent Commercial Radio Stations throughout Canada.

Vessels Accompany, Guard Seals North Along Coast Of B.C.

VANCOUVER (AP)—The Pribilof seal herds, now passing the British Columbia coast, are being accompanied by a United States "floating laboratory" ship on their annual migration to Bering Sea.

The huge herds, valued at more than $100,000,000, are guarded by Dominion fisheries patrol vessels as they pass through Canadian waters. Indians, using canoes and armed with spears, are the only hunters permitted to kill the seals during the migration.

The laboratory ship, the Black Douglas, was equipped at Seattle for a long period at sea. The 15 men aboard will attempt to discover where the seals spend the winter, what food they eat, and whether other mammals prey on their young.

United States Coast Guard vessels will take over control of the herds when they reach Alaskan waters.

The valuable fur seals are killed later in the season in the Bering region, under supervision of the U.S. government.

Canada and the United States share in the furs, under an international treaty, with Canada receiving 20 per cent.

Hadfield Will Not Run For Council Seat

Thomas Hadfield, former reeve of Esquimalt and a popular member of municipal politics for more than a quarter of a century, has decided not to run for the council in the by-election June 19.

Mr. Hadfield, at the outset, stated he would not run for the reeveship, but said he had been asked to run for council and would consider it. The vacancy on the council occurred when J. P. A. Christensen resigned to run for reeve.

"I have decided against it and will not run for office on the council," he said today.

To Extend Boundaries

Application of the board of commissioners of the corporation of the Village of Lake Cowichan to extend and redefine its boundaries has been approved by the provincial government by order-in-council.

Livable Standard Urged By Dean For Old Age Pensioners

Need for establishment of a liveable pension standard for all senior citizens across the Dominion, and necessity of raising old age pensions in eastern Canada, especially the Maritimes and Quebec, was voiced by Dean Spencer H. Elliott of Christ Church Cathedral at a meeting of the Old Age Pension Campaign Council in Prince Robert House, Tuesday night.

"Every effort should be made by those organizations having affiliations across Canada to have a decent and liveable standard established for their senior citizens," Dean Elliott said, adding that the cost of living bonus paid by the provincial government, should be maintained, in spite of an increase by the federal government.

In his review of the pension system, he outlined the activities of the Anglican Church in their efforts to have the standards for old age pensioners raised.

The recent $5 increase granted British Columbia pensioners, which brought the cost of living bonus paid by the province up to $10 a month, had brought the provincial contribution to a total of $3,250,000 annually, Dean Elliott told the meeting.

He added that the federal government granted $4,400,000 for the province, which, along with the provincial total, brought the pension rate up to $35 a month. He spoke of the need to think of other pensioners in the province which included 3,000 on mothers' allowances and 10,000 on social allowances. He referred also to blind persons and helpless cripples.

"People must realize that sacrifices must be made to assist these deserving people, as taxes are the solution to the problem," he said.

George Wilkinson introduced Dean Elliott. A letter was read to the meeting by J. R. Waters, vice-president of the council, from State Secretary Paul Martin, stating that the Dominion government had the Pensions Act under review and was contemplating extensive changes.

No Action Yet On City Hall Hotel

Because of the non-arrival of W. H. Specht, Seattle, who represents American interests in the syndicate which proposes to erect a hotel on the City Hall site if a lease can be obtained, no decision was reached at Tuesday's meeting of the City Hall committee, Ald. Edward Williams, chairman, reported.

There was considerable discussion on the various proposals made to obtain commercial use of the site for a hotel, Ald. Williams said, but no decisions were made, and no definite counter-offer placed before the representatives of the group who have declared themselves ready to invest $4,000,000 in the venture. 9 Deaths From 1947 Traffic Mishaps In Greater Victoria

With 1947 five months old, the toll of persons killed in accidents on Greater Victoria highways involving motor vehicles has climbed to nine, a survey today showed.

Greater Victoria police chiefs and officials of the Provincial Police traffic department are perturbed over the large figure marked up from deaths on the highways and today issued a reprint of their oft-repeated advice to the motoring public to drive with care.

This year to date five persons have been killed on Victoria streets, including a 16-month-old baby, a four-year-old boy and another boy aged six years.

In Esquimalt two deaths have been due to vehicle accidents, both occurring in May.

In Saanich one person has died from injuries from an accident. A child's death is on the records of the Sidney Provincial Police force.

To date Oak Bay has a clear 1947 record in this connection.

Police chiefs, in warning the driving public to take greater care in operating their vehicles, point out that statistics show drivers are not the ones who usually emerge with the worst injuries or die from wounds—but rather that the passengers or pedestrians are victims.

The deaths of children are mainly due to the children getting in the way of vehicles and parents are cautioned to school their children carefully in conducting themselves on the streets.

During 1946 there were eight traffic deaths in Victoria, while the toll the year before was five.

Limit Watering In Saanich, Oak Bay; City Unrestricted

Restrictions on watering of lawns and gardens have been imposed in Oak Bay and Saanich, effective immediately, but it is doubtful if it will be necessary for city gardeners to cut down on watering, it was learned today.

In Oak Bay, A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, stated houses with even numbers will be permitted to water Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and houses with odd numbers on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. There are no restrictions on Sundays.

H. Blakeney, municipal engineer for Saanich, announced that in Saanich houses with even numbers and those unnumbered houses on the north and west sides of streets could water on even dates, such as second, fourth, etc.; while houses with odd numbers and those unnumbered houses on the south and east sides of streets may water on odd dates.

Ald. F. N. Cabeldu, chairman of the city water board, said he doubted if it would be necessary for the city to impose any restrictions as the by-pass put in at the fountain had raised pressure in city water mains so that no limits were put on watering last year.

Water consumption in the city Tuesday was as high as the heaviest day last summer, but the weather cooled today so that consumption will drop accordingly.

The pumps were operated by the city water department until 8 Tuesday night, Ald. Cabeldu reported, to bring up pressure in the higher sections of the city where there had previously been a lot of trouble.

He emphasized, however, that the Stewart report must be implemented if any permanent solution to the Greater Victoria water supply problem is to be found. "We have a lot more users this year and won't know until later in the summer whether or not we will have to put on restrictions this year," he said.

Travel To States Not Affected By Currency Control

The tightening of foreign exchange control regulations reducing from $100 to $10 the amount of U.S. currency any Canadian may hold or take out of Canada without a travel permit will have little or no effect on Canadians traveling to the United States, according to William Clark, president of the Victoria and Island Bureau.

He said the new regulations did not prevent an individual from applying for a permit to carry U.S. currency above the stipulated amount.

"It may stop Canadians crossing the border casually for a week-end or a day," he said, "because many won't take the trouble to get a permit to carry more than $10 in U.S. currency."

Mr. Clark said the new regulations would prove beneficial in so far as to prevent people from hoarding U.S. funds.

Australian Says Cost Of Living High In Canada

K. J. Binns, treasury-economist for the Australian government, who is visiting Victoria today said he was surprised to discover the high cost of living in Canada and the United States, which he described as "much higher than in Australia."

Mr. Binns, who is on a tour across Canada to inquire into Dominion - Provincial relations, said that although prices had risen in Australia they were not nearly as high as in Canada and the United States. "While we still have butter and sugar rationing, most consumer goods, with the exception of automobiles, are in ample supply," he stated.

He said Australia, like Canada, was having its inter-provincial problems with regard to financial arrangements. He was interested in the financial arangements between the Dominion government and British Columbia and said, as far as he could see, the province had made a good deal.

During his visit here he interviewed Premier John Hart and Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb on the subject. He also said he intended to meet government officials in Alberta with regard to social credit.

Warehousemen On Sightseeing Tour

Delegates attending the 15th annual convention of the Mayflower Warehousemen's Association went on a sightseeing tour of Victoria and vicinity today, while at a business session held in the Empress Hotel several speakers addressed the meeting on topics in connection with business management.

The delegates heard addresses from P. A. Cooling, J. S. Smith, E. H. Lamkin, Don Kenworthy, C. R. Israel and R. E. Huggins. An open discussion on business and general management was also held in the afternoon.

Last night the visitors were entertained at a dinner and dance held in the ball room. Tomorrow night at 7 the association's annual banquet will be held, to be followed by an entertainment and dancing.

June 6 was named the day when the by-law covering rezoning of Saanich areas for commercial purposes will be presented to the public by Saanich Council at its meeting Tuesday night.

Edward Wishart, 71, First Pipe Major Of City Band, Dies

A Scottish lament will be piped at the graveside of Edward Wishart, 71, well-known Colwood resident and one of the few remaining original members of the first Victoria Pipe Band, of which he was the first pipe major, who died Monday afternoon, at the Jubilee Hospital.

Dr. Hugh A. McLeod will conduct services at McCall Bros.' Funeral Home, Thursday afternoon at 3, with burial in the Pioneer Cemetery at Colwood.

A native of Aberdeenshire, Scotland, Mr. Wishart served his time in the city of Aberdeen as a mason and stonecutter. He was a member of one of the few or possibly only Mason's Lodge, the A.F. & A.M. Lodge Operative No. 150, Aberdeen, in which all the members were required to earn their living with the ordinary working tools of the mason's trade.

In 1902, he went to South Africa, where for a short while he was attached to the Cape Mounted Police, after which he worked at his trade until coming to Winnipeg in 1905.

Mr. Wishart came to Victoria in 1907 and worked on many stone erections in and around the city. He came to Colwood in 1921 and operated his own stone-cutting yard on Wishart Road where he cut curb and headstones for the Colwood Cemetery.

Until the last few years, he took an active part in the Highland games in Vancouver and Victoria.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one son, Edward J., at the family residence; one brother, William, of Colwood; three sisters, Mrs. Jean Brien and Mrs. Edith Riddell of Victoria and Mrs. Kate Froh of New York.

Wednesday Closing Issue Still Alive Say Retail Clerks

Retail clerks are determined to carry on the struggle to obtain all-day Wednesday closing where any class of shops petition for it, George Wilkinson, business representative, said in a statement today. "Our course of action will be determined at our next meeting June 12," he declared. "The matter will not be allowed to drop."

He expressed amazement at the action of the City Council Monday in turning down the all-day Wednesday closing by-law for shoe retail stores after the large majority of stores concerned had petitioned for the closing.

"I am more than perturbed at the suggestion made by some of the aldermen that days off should be staggered to provide a five-day week in stores," he stated, "I would say that the men who make that suggestion are acting only in the interests of 'big business' and are working to put the small businessman who must work in his own store with a small staff, completely out of business. They will break him."

Houseboats Illegal On Erie St. Site

The question of removal of houseboats from the foot of Erie Street, where they have been a problem to the City Council for the past several years, is in the hands of the federal department of public works, Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport, informed R. W. Mayhew, who has forwarded the letter to the City Council.

The presence of the houseboats is interfering with the construction of the fishermen's floats in the vicinity, Mr. Chevrier said, and as the owners of these boats have not acquired rights to the sites occupied they are actually illegal structures. They are also illegal works under the provisions of the Navigable Waters Protection Act, he continued.

The harbor master has been successful in having a number of the houseboats vacated and removed, and of the five remaining two are empty, he reported. The main difficulty in completing their removal is to find living quarters for the present occupants.

The harbor master informed the federal department it would be impossible to remove the structures intact—the lumber in them is of no value, and in his opinion it would be advisable to burn them with the aid of the Victoria fire department.

Mr. Chevrier concluded with the suggestion that the city follow the matter up with officers of the department of public works in an endeavor to secure speedy removal of the remaining shacks.

Mr. Mayhew, in his letter, offered to take any further action the city might desire in the matter.

Town Topics

The Ogden Point sub-committee of the harbor and industrial development committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will meet Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce at 3.

The Victoria Club for the Hard-of-Hearing meeting tonight at 8.15. There will be a short mystery program by one of the members. Lip-reading practice will be at 7.45.

H. W. Davey, K.C., one of the city representatives on the Royal Jubilee Hospital Board, is resigning from the board as soon as his term of office expires in June the City Council was informed today by C. Morrison, Jubilee Hospital secretary.

At the request of the Victoria Arm and Portage Inlet Improvement Association that action be taken to stop dumping of refuse in Gorge waters, resulted in Saanich Council ordering four signs be erected on Gorge Road prohibiting the practice.

James Crystal pleaded guilty to a charge of taking a car without the owner's consent and was fined $50 by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in Esquimalt police court Tuesday. W. R. Ritchie and Gordon Smith were each fined $40 for dangerous driving charges. Both were involved in accidents.

The Saanich Suburban Community centre social evening scheduled for this Friday night at Mount View High School is canceled as the auditorium is not available. The date has been changed to June 6 in the auditorium.

University entrance examinations for all grade 12 candidates in Victoria will start in all high schools June 16, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, announced today. Grade 9, 10 and 11 students in the high schools will write tests, terminating June 13.

James Anderson of the Prince Robert House told city police he awakened this morning to find the bedclothes from three other beds in the room he occupied piled on top of him and his $45 camera missing. He had left the camera beside him when he went to sleep.

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney has been appointed acting labor minister to serve during the absence of Labor Minister George S. Pearson, under a provincial government order-in-council. The acting ministership had previously been held by Works Minister E. C. Carson.

Councillor Leslie H. Passmore and Trustee A. Edmonds were appointed Saanich representatives on the board of management of the Old Craigflower School, historic landmark of Greater Victoria, by Saanich Council Tuesday night. Councillor Passmore reported plans under way to give the building a renovation and he asked for financial support from the council.

St. Joseph's Hospital attendants today reported as good the condition of Frank Blaus, 3120 Qu'Appelle Street, who was struck by a falling derrick boom at the Sidney Roofing Company where he was employed Tuesday afternoon. He was taken to hospital by L. Brookbank and Charlie Morrison in a C. & C. ambulance.

The dirigible which is being brought here June 7, 8 and 9 for demonstration purposes will be moored at Gordon Head Airpark, Ald. B. J. Gadsden, chairman of the aviation committee, announced today. The special mooring shafts will be brought over and erected by Goodyear Tire Company prior to the dirigible coming.

Explore For Closer Tie-up Of British, Canadian Price Levels

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
Times Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA—Plain-to-see signals are flying in European skies of economic storms gathering their force there but threatening to spend their fury mainly against Canada and the United States.

Canadian and United States loans have failed to prime the pump of United Kingdom export trade, and British stock-piles of Canadian and U.S. dollars are dwindling steadily without buying any basic improvement in the economic lot of the United Kingdom peoples.

The billion-dollar market on the continent of Europe which Unrra has provided since the war's end is scheduled to close July 1 next and continental nations are unable wholly to replace it with any foreign buying power of their own.

Price levels on the American continent are out of line with purchasing power in impoverished Europe, and instead of the situation improving, a new drive for still higher wages by Canadian and U.S. labor is threatening to make it worse. Canada and the United States, both of which can know maximum prosperity only if their export trades flourish, are stubbornly in the process of pricing themselves out of the European market.

IMPORTANT VISIT

Such, in brief, is the situation which has taken Bank of Canada Governor Graham Towers on his mission to London. The European outlook is of particular consequence to Canada, which depends on export trade for three out of every eight dollars in the national income. Thus Governor Towers in reality is concerned to safeguard if at all possible the jobs and interests of this country's tens of thousands of export trade workers—as well as the jobs and interests of other tens of thousands of domestic trade workers whose livelihood depends on Canada's export income.

How is it to be done? The hope back of the Canadian and U.S. loans was that they would prime the pump of British peacetime production and enable Britain to resume meeting her international balance of payments. The pound sterling was to become convertible into "hard" U.S. and Canadian dollars in July next, enabling the United States and Canada to liquidate the huge stores of sterling exchange which they have been accumulating in return for goods supplied to Europe.

It now is apparent that Britain is wholly unlikely to be able to meet her commitment in July to make the pound sterling convertible. Instead of supplying her with capital equipment, the Canadian and U.S. loans have been going for food and other current necessities. The United Kingdom is in little better position today to meet her international balance of payments than she was before the loans. And the loans are dwindling steadily.

CANADA'S POSITION

For Canada the situation holds just twice the difficulty that it does for the United States, for in addition to accumulating large stores of sterling which she is unable to exchange for goods because United Kingdom production hasn't yet made a sufficient supply of goods available, Canada is in the position of importing a heavy bill of raw material goods each month from the U.S., and for it she must pay cash.

Obviously the situation of Canada accumulating British credits while paying cash herself cannot continue indefinitely—or very much longer. It is equally plain that, with Unrra out of the way as a philanthropic intermediary, impoverished Europe cannot continue to purchase in terms of the boom-time price levels of this continent.

Graham Towers is expected to explore two possibilities out of the impasse which threatens so emergently. One is some modus operandi between the British and Canadian currencies. The other is a closer-tie-up between British and Canadian price levels.

If the Canadian dollar could be brought closer to the British pound, then not only the United Kingdom but the nations of continental Europe as well would be better able to afford to trade with Canada, and this country would be retrieving what threatens to be her mistake of pricing herself out of the European market.

The program is admittedly a difficult one. Not until Mr. Towers has completed his survey overseas will it even be known whether or not it is practical. To some extent its possibility undoubtedly will depend on Canada's ability to divert some of the raw material needs at present being filled in the United States to sterling area sources, thus paring down the Dominion's present need for U.S. dollars to meet her international balance of payments.

ROYAL THEATRE

Walt Disney's first musical drama in technicolor, "Song of the South," now at the Royal Theatre, based on Joel Chandler Harris' immortal character Uncle Remus, revives the chain-reaction, endless song, of which folk music is so plentiful. The number is Uncle Remus Said, and it consists of a single, brief melody repeated as often as new lyrics come along.

ATLAS THEATRE

Lovely Ingrid Bergman co-stars with Robert Montgomery in "Rage in Heaven," suspense-packed story of a husband obsessed with jealousy, who enacts the "perfect crime." The picture is now at the Royal Theatre. The role of the distraught wife is one of the most brilliant ever enacted by the star of such hits as "Spellbound" and "Saratoga Trunk."

OAK BAY THEATRE

Vincent Price appears as the autocratic, aristocratic Nicholas Van Ryn in the 20th Century-Fox filmization of Anya Seton's best-seller, "Dragonwyck." The film, starring Gene Tierney and Walter Huston, is showing at the Oak Bay Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A house completely made up of historic rooms from the famed William Randolph Hurst collection was used in Paramount's "The Imperfect Lady," the Ray Milland-Teresa Wright co-starrer currently at the Capitol Theatre.

Eight of the period rooms which Paramount purchased during the past few years were assembled to form a London town house occupied by Sir Cedric Hardwicke in the romantic melodrama of Victorian England.

PLAZA THEATRE

Superbly performing a role in a film but not actually existing at all in the story is the strange paradox experienced by Raymond Massey in Universal-International's technicolor production, "Stairway to Heaven," now at the Plaza Theatre. He co-stars with David Niven and Roger Livesey with Kim Hunter and Marius Goring heading the long supporting cast.

Saanich Council Decides No Public Vote On Ward System

By a vote of four to three, Saanich Council at its meeting Tuesday night voted down a resolution presented by Councillor Leslie Passmore that a plebiscite be put to the people of Saanich at the next annual election as to whether or not they favor abolition of the ward system in their municipality.

Voting for the plebiscite along with the mover were Councillor Thomas Alexander, the seconder, and Councillor E. P. Cummins. The motion was defeated by the dissenting votes of Councillors W. C. Kersey, George Rudd, John Oliver and Len Hobbs. Reeve E. C. Warren was not called upon to vote.

The vote last night was identically the same as that taken several weeks ago when the members as a council, voted to retain the ward system. An amendment to the Municipal Act passed at the 1947 sitting of the House, called for abolition of the ward set-up in British Columbia municipalities. However, it also provided that if councils did not want ward boundaries wiped out they could retain the present system by presenting a resolution to that effect to the provincial council. The council acted quickly.

Councillor Passmore, in putting the motion, said it was his opinion it was the voters' democratic right to have their say on the matter at election time. He noted at one time a petition bearing 1,100 names of ratepayers in Saanich asked for a vote of this nature.

On a motion presented by Reeve Warren, a vote of thanks will be forwarded to the St. John Ambulance Brigade for its thoughtful act in setting out chairs for old folks on a section of the route for the main May 24 parade. "That was certainly a fine gesture on their part," the reeve commented.

Saanich municipality — and other municipalities for that matter—are in for a dusty time of it this year, according to information conveyed to the council. Mention was made by Councillor Passmore that complaints were coming in to him from ward constituents of clouds of dust stirred up on roads and demanding that they be oiled. The question is now how to combat the dust — because there is no oil available "and the shortage of this product is so acute that we will not be able to get one gallon this year," said Reeve Warren.

R. Logan was authorized to present his plans for erection of an auto camp, coffee bar and home on Verdier Avenue, Brentwood, to the necessary officials of Saanich. Provided his plan met with all specifications required, the council came to a decision to give him the go-ahead on it. It was pointed out that the rezoning board under the Town Planning Act had had plans in that area, but that as no action had been taken by the board during the 60-day grace period the applicant should be given an opportunity to get on with his project.

REFUSAL TO S.P.C.A.

Application of the S.P.C.A. to operate an animal shelter on Acorn Avenue was turned down. This after the council had heard a delegation of kennel operators. Council members felt that a refusal of the application was the order in view of the fact that society would be entering into opposition against private enterprise.

A by-law prohibiting horseback riding in Mount Douglas Park, at other parks and beaches under the jurisdiction of the Victoria-Saanich Beach and Parks committee, was authorized. The action resulted from a request from the committee, Councillor Hobbs particularly in favor of barring this sport on beaches.

Saanich In Throes Of Big Program To Remedy Water Supply Problem

The annual "big beef" is on again in Saanich now that the hot months have arrived—lack of adequate supply of water through the municipality's water system.

The recurrence of the age-old problem in Saanich came up for considerable discussion again at last night's meeting of the municipal council.

The discussion branched out into an overall verbal survey of the Saanich water situation after an eight-man delegation from 10-Mile Point's McAnally Road, headed by A. Johnston and R. Kershaw, had spoken to the council on the matter of having the four-inch pipeline handling Tudor and Seaview Roads extended to take in their road to replace the present two-inch pipe. The two-inch main they claimed was totally inadequate to meet demands for ordinary water service and for fire emergency.

"And our fire rate at $1.22 is the highest in Saanich, and a great many other places, too, for the next highest in the municipality is 80 cents," said Mr. Johnston. The council promised to do what it could to alleviate the ratepayers' difficulty on McAnally. Underwriters, Mr. Johnston said, had told him the rate would not be lowered until standard hydrants were put in.

WHOLE SYSTEM INADEQUATE

It was here that the subject branched out, Councillor George Rudd stressing that the whole system of water supply in Saanich was inadequate.

Reeve E. C. Warren was of the opinion the municipality's mains were sufficient, but that the the trouble's source was lack of adequate pressure to enable the water to reach higher points.

After the council had heard that only one of the 10 wells in Cordova Bay was being used as it was the only one that could be utilized to help out in the water problem, Councillor Len Hobbs said he had talked with the city waterworks chief and had been told the city would supply Saanich with all the water it wants "provided we have storage place to put it, like reservoirs."

Reeve Warren came back into the discussion picture with the statement that the municipality was doing all it could financially at the present time time to right the poor water conditions in Saanich.

About five years ago, he said, the council embarked on a big, costly program covering several years to improve the pipelines and to establish storage units.

"Last year we spent $70,000 in this connection in the Mount Douglas area. This year we are spending another $90,000 and the same amount next year," Reeve Warren said.

He said the council's individual action in this regard was taken because it was realized the people in the close-in areas to the city, if asked to vote on the question would turn it down because they had the heaviest voting power and were least affected by the pressure problem.

ALL 2-INCH PIPE TO GO

The current program, Reeve Warren said, was to replace all two-inch pipes with four and six-inch pipes throughout the municipality. "Right now we are only handling emergency cases and where replacement are absolutely necessary. But we will cover the whole municipality on a gradual basis."

This program, he said, was going to cost $200,000.

Councillor Hobbs said that the water in his home area ceased to run for a half hour earlier in the night. Reeve Warren illustrated the potential grimness of a "no water" situation, by pointing out "I was praying last night (Monday) that we won't have a fire—because with our water shortage condition, fires would not be individual, but would involve whole blocks."

Saanich Approves New Transit Set-up

Saanich Council at a meeting Tuesday night put its stamp of approval on the new franchise agreement with the Vancouver Island Coach Lines.

The council followed the recommendations of the municipal solicitor that Schedule A be adopted as submitted and Schedule B adopted as slightly amended by himself.

At a special meeting of the council last week the new agreement was adopted subject to the provision it meets with the approval of the solicitor.

Warehousemen Elect President

'Obey---Or Else' Saanich Warning To Some Residents

Preliminary steps were taken at last night's meeting of Saanich Council to force some Saanich residents to equip their places with regulation sanitary arrangements and water supplies. The council aims to stamp out unsanitary conditions in structures occupied by humans—some of which have been described as "terrible" — throughout Saanich.

Included in the council's campaign are Chinese and Hindus, reported to be existing under such conditions. Community health and fire menaces from these sources are the chief concern of the council.

Councillor Leslie Passmore, in line with the sanitary campaign, made mention of the "foul practice sometimes alleged that excreta is used to fertilize land growing vegetables."

If the municipal regulations are not adhered to, after adequate warning with regard to sanitary and water remedial steps to be taken by persons involved, swift action is the promise of the council.

Saanich Condemns Marauding Dogs

Considerable concern was felt by rural ward representatives of Saanich Council at the meeting of the council Tuesday night over dogs running loose in the municipality and indiscriminately killing sheep, chickens and other fowl.

While it was not put to a vote, Reeve E. C. Warren was heard to say that he favored a by-law that any dog not on a leash, whether licensed or not, should be impounded.

Latest complaint of killing by dogs came from E. M. Maber, Maber Road, Saanichton, who claimed remuneration of $7.50 each for loss of 10 sheep. Action was deferred on the application pending further investigation.

Tentative Approval Given School By-law

Saanich Council, at its meeting Tuesday night, "approved tentatively" a by-law to raise the sum of $317,000 for the Saanich share of the Greater Victoria School District proposed school construction program.

The by-law will now go to B. C. Bracewell, inspector of municipalities, for approval and amendments, if necessary, returned to the Saanich Council for second and third readings before publication in the press on June 8, the meeting was informed. The by-law will be presented to the ratepayers on June 19.

OFF-SCREEN PANTOMIME

Humphrey Bogart is "dead," and a small Indian boy is very happy. It happened on location in Mexico for "The Treasure of Sierra Madre." An Indian boy stopped Bogart on the street.

"You Umphrey Bogart?" he asked politely. Bogart said he was.

The Indian boy picked up a stick, pointed it at him, made the traditional rat-ta-tat machine gun sound, then said, "You dead."

Bogart fell over, grasping his stomach. The Indian boy walked away with a smile that lit up the entire countryside.

—The Long and The "Shorts" Of It—

REMEMBER me telling you, a few days ago, that up to Qualicham we hoped to go. But for reservations it was now too late, because, as usual I did procrastinate. And SO with the 3 gals in our house, I was again . . . in the doghouse. And remember my imagination getting out of reach, picturing myself there on the beach. Building castles with moats and shells, a dutiful daddy, amusing his gals.

MARVELOUS MOHAIR . . . it'll never wear out . . . it's the newest cover on this Chesterfield Set. $265, "4 a lifetime."

WELL . . . the power of advertising continues to amaze me, 'cause somebody, as usual, took pity on 3. And it's all worked out, for this lowly vassal, to B a King of his own sand castle. So U can C very plain to your eyes, just how "It Pays To Advertise." One day, your covered, all washed up, away back in the dog-house like a spanked pup. And then of a sudden, "C'mon out dear Paddy, 3 grateful dames whistling, "My Heart Belongs To Daddy."

THIS Chesterfield Suite belongs in YOUR home . . . not down here . . . it is TOOOOOOOOOO lovely with the all fluted sofa and one chair in floral rose velour, the other chair in Alice blue . . . $265 buys all this.

The G.F. sed, as she sat on my knee, "now we'll all need play togs; that's a certain-tee. What color bathing suit shall I choose, and the girls of course, will need running shoes" . . . "Well," I sed, her arm round my back, "I think you'll look best in a Jantzen . . . all-black. All in one piece, for a matron I think, holds U together when U emerge from the drink." That's when she gave me quite a biff, 'cause I KNEW she wanted a bare midriff.

YOU'LL WANT this beige mahogany Chesterfield Suite . . . it's distinctively styled, walnut showwood cut lined . . . a brand new model . . . warehoused $325 . . . "nothing finer."

"NOW" . . . she sed. "U must go in and buy, some new shorts and the size U must try. I saw some in Khaki, and with pleats, and NOT skin tight in the seats. Nothing looks worse on ANY man, than a tight fitting garment around his fan." So in this store to-day, and before my eyes, I tried some on . . . and mainly for size. Which was kinda a tuff thing to do, 'cause I kept my own on . . . the ones that are blue. I looked rather silly in my tie and shirt, which hung around me . . . like a skirt. In that dressing room, the mirror so tall, and with 2 men's hats peeked on the wall.

AND we also have this same suite in a floral wine . . . the all-fluting prevents wrinkling . . . ever.

SO . . . I took off my shirt, pulled in my tum, then looked at the shorts to C the sum. Size 34 it sed on the tag, a little tight, but they helped the sag. Then I turned to one side, didn't fancy my legs. Just a couple of tooth-picks, shaven to pegs. But the cut of the shorts, plus each pleat, DID help a lot, 2 myself I did bleat. But a fellow in the mirror, sed to this bard, "Just play on the sand . . . Bud . . . YOUR NO LIFE-GUARD."

Witness States Ring Borrowed For Marriage

TORONTO (CP) — Investigation of Christina Kettlewell's death by drowning nine days ago at Dinnertime Rapids now centres on the strange circumstances surrounding her sudden marriage to Jack Kettlewell, police said today.

And while they were endeavoring to unravel this part of the mystery-shrouded case, a woman who claims she was a witness at the wedding, said in an interview that a ring had been borrowed for the marriage, which took place one day earlier than originally planned.

The marriage witness—Mrs. Emma Barger—said Christina had neither an engagement ring nor a wedding ring of her own when she was wedded May 11 in Mimico. Meanwhile police were reported to be probing the disappearance of a ring worth $1,000 said to have been bought by Ronald Barrie, bosom friend of Kettlewell and best man at the wedding.

Barrie also is reported to have purchased the pretty 22-year-old bride's trousseau.

Mrs. Barger said a Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas also were witnesses to the ceremony and that Mrs. Thomas had loaned her own wedding ring to Christina. Earlier this week Mrs. Barger, in a writ filed at Osgoode Hall, sought an injunction against Barrie mortgaging or otherwise disposing of a property in his name.

Police said they were attempting to find out why Christina married Kettlewell so suddenly and why Barrie was a leading figure in the wedding arrangements.

Barrie was owner of the summer cottage 100 miles north of Toronto and went with the bride and groom to the resort area a few days before the girl's body was found in the Severn River May 20. Barrie removed Jack Kettlewell in a dazed condition from the cottage, which shortly afterwards burned to the ground.

Big French Liner Being Refitted

SAINT NAZAIRE, France (Reuter) — The French 44,000-ton liner Ile de France is being completely refitted here to take her place again sometime next year in the service to New York. She served as an Allied troopship for seven years and carried many Canadian troops.

For her war services, she is to be awarded the Military Cross.

The Ile de France, built in 1928 at a cost of 240,000,000 francs, was then the biggest liner in the world.

Requisitioned by French military authorities at the outbreak of war, she was at Singapore when France signed the armistice with Germany. The French officers and military crew on board decided to continue the fight alongside Britain.

In 1946 she was returned to the French authorities, but until last month continued to serve as transport for French troops and official parties.

Guerrillas Attack Macedonian Towns

ATHENS (CP) — Concerted guerrilla attacks against several towns and villages in Macedonia since midnight Monday were reported by the Greek news agency today.

Meanwhile it was announced a United Nations' Balkan investigating commission team will visit the Greek-Bulgarian border next Monday to investigate fresh reports of frontier violations.

Albertan Loses Life

PEERS, Alta. (CP) — One man was killed instantly and a second received minor injuries it was reported today, when an eastbound Canadian National Railway train Tuesday cut in half a truck in which they were riding at the Peers station level crossing, 105 miles west of Edmonton. William Raymond White, 62, of Wildwood was killed.

Bad News For Burglars

Edmond Michel of Chicago shows his new keyless door lock which can be set to any of 764 combinations. Absent householder, upon return, pushes proper buttons on dial seen at right and door opens. Lock can be set in connection with an alarm so that pushing wrong buttons rings a loud bell, or device can be hooked up with telephone alarm system.

Recreation Council

At the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Recreation Council of Greater Victoria, Doug Fletcher presiding, W. Terry was welcomed to the board in place of Lt.-Col. Moore, whose resignation was received owing to ill health.

At the request of the Saanich Recreational Council, W. H. Warren of the Parks Board and Dr. H. Anderson were appointed to act with a delegate from the Saanich Recreational Council in the matter of securing the services of some privincial appointee to teach tumbling exercises in the playground.

It was decided to secure membership in the Greater Victoria Film Council which has offered to train two members of the council in the use of a projector.

Dr. Anderson reported on plans for the Playgrounds and Community Centres Conference on June 20 and 21 at First Baptist Church.

Coal Output Down

EDMONTON (CP) — John Crawford, chief inspector of mines for Alberta, said today production of coal in the province this year up to April was 2,717,686 tons compared with 3,166,003 for the same period last year.

Reinforce Troops As Riots Expected

CALCUTTA (CP) — Governor Frederick Burrows of Bengal arranged today to have troops in the province reinforced as a precaution against new outbreaks of communal violence next Monday, when British authorities plan an announcement concerning the method of transferring the government to Indian hands.

High-ranking leaders of both the Moslem League and the predominantly Hindu Congress party issued a joint appeal to refrain from violence.

Five persons were reported killed and 17 wounded Tuesday during Hindu-Moslem rioting in Calcutta, and 106 persons were arrested.

One person was killed and five injured in sporadic communal incidents in Calcutta to midday today, according to unofficial figures.

Meanwhile Reuter's news agency reported more army units have been ordered to the Punjab from south India to reinforce troops already there to assist the civil authorities in maintaining law and order.

Serve cooked, frozen or canned peas, seasoned with a little sauteed finely-cut celery and pimento with salmon steaks.

3 Parties To Study Land Utilization

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney announced today that the land utilization research and survey division of the lands department would undertake surveys this summer in the Peace River, Prince George and Creston areas.

Purpose of the surveys is to prepare the ground work for scientific knowledge of all the land of the province so that it may be put to its best use, whether for agriculture, forestry, industry or recreation. Ultimately it is expected that all usable lands will be surveyed into economic units suitable for settlement based on soil, climate, topography, economic and social factors.

The survey parties will be under the general supervision of the superintendent of lands, C. E. Hopper, and directly under the direction of the division, D. Sutherland.

The Peace River group will work in conjunction with the soil survey party organized cooperatively by the departments of lands and agriculture, the University of B.C. and the Dominion government. Mr. Sutherland will be in personal charge of the party.

The Prince George party will be directed by Charles Howatson.

Dr. D. B. Turner, assistant director of the division, will start surveying in the Creston area and work on into the East Kootenay districts, where there are still several thousand acres of arable land mixed with less desirable areas.

MANILA (AP) — Twelve bodies, charred beyond recognition, have been taken from wreckage of the presidential air plane which crashed last week on Mount Ragang on Mindanao, President Manual A. Roxas was informed this morning. Search for possible five others was continuing.

French People Adopting Canadian War Graves

A. Malraye and his wife, residents of Caen, France, make frequent visits to the grave of Sapper E. N. Shea of Victoria, who was killed in action late in 1944. His wife is shown here laying flowers on the grave in the cemetery at Betteville.

Many French citizens, some without knowledge of the addresses of the families concerned, are adopting graves of Canadian soldiers out of gratitude for the part Canadians played in the liberation of France from the German yoke, a letter received by Miss Beatrice Shea, 1109 Catherine Street, reveals.

The writer, A. Malraye, 47 Peter Street, Caen, has been corresponding with Miss Shea ever since he adopted her brother's grave—Sapper E. N. Shea, killed in action Aug. 28, 1944. He was buried in the war cemetery of Betteville, near Cintheaux.

Mr. Malraye in his letter says he knows many people who would be happy to adopt and take care of graves for Canadian parents or relatives. "Many of my people have adopted graves and do not know the addresses of the families," he writes, "thus your countrymen are unaware that the French people are making frequent visits to the cemetery."

The high regard French people have for both Canadian and English soldiers is revealed in the letter. "I wish you to know that only a feeling of gratitude guides us to this field of rest," he says. "These visits, for us, are a very agreeable occupation."

Mr. Malraye explains that he was a veteran of the First Great War and often found himself at the front alongside Canadian and British troops. "The companionship united us," he adds.

"Came the war of 1939 when we saw again in Normandy the sons of old friends," he writes. "Then came July 2, 1944, and we heard in the cellars of the college of Malherbe at Caen, the roar of the battle which raged some few miles away from the town. Then on July 9, 1944, we saw arrive in Caen motorized units followed by the Canadian infantry."

He adds: "It is impossible to describe the emotion which we felt at such a sight. These soldiers, covered with dust, yet so handsome, so calm, who spoke so soothingly to us. We feel that we are their debtors and the visits we make to those who rest here are but a small token of gratitude."

Mr. Malraye, who has adopted several other graves including a grave of an unknown soldier, says the cemetery at Betteville is well kept and improvements are contemplated in the near future. The cemetery is the resting place of 3,000 Canadian soldiers.

The British Graves Commission is planning to replace the metal crosses with stones in the form of a headstone with sufficient room for an inscription, he says. The earth would in due course be suppressed, and a small garden would surround each tombstone and placed under the care of an administrator.

He also discloses the British are planning to erect a central cross or war monument over 80 feet in height.

Tug Christened At Launching Ceremony

The 43-foot diesel tug Saraboyd, owned by Capt. Van Froome, slid down the ways of Marine Service & Sales Boatyard, Wharf Street, at a launching ceremony this morning.

Miss Ruth Boyd, nice of Capt. Froome, was sponsor, and broke the traditional bottle on the ship's bow. Construction of the vessel was under the direction of Dan Paterson, a veteran shipwright.

Company officials and friends were on hand to watch the tug slide down the ways—the first of her kind to be built in this city for many years. Construction of the vessel began last December and it is hoped to have the tug in service within a month or so.

Capt. Froome said the tug may first go into service at Ladysmith, before operating in local waters. She is equipped with two 115 horse-power engines.

Among those present at the launching were: M. H. King, president of the Marine Service & Sales Boatyard, which was formed in November, 1946; Gordon Pratt, managing director and Lee Halbert, secretary-treasurer.

The company has now under construction a 46-foot sport cruiser which will be launched within a few weeks. Fred McLeod is the owner.

Open Kindergartens To Parents June 11

"Open house" will be held in the eight kindergarten classes in Greater Victoria June 11 from 1.30 to 3.30, when parents will be given the opportunity of seeing the type of work being done by the pre-school children, Miss Marion James, primary supervisor, announced today.

Tea will be served after 3.30.

Also on June 11 there will be a display of work done in the industrial arts centres during the evening at Victoria High School, Central Junior High School, Mount View High School, Oak Bay High School, and Esquimalt High School, George Anstey said. There will be home economics displays in all but Victoria High School.

Schools at which there are kindergarten classes are Margaret Jenkins, Sir James Douglas, Kingston Street, Victoria West, North Ward, Spring Ridge, Oaklands, and Oak Bay, in the old Oak Bay High School.

CHICAGO (AP)—Rain, snow, sleet and cold provided the background for soaring grain prices on the Board of Trade today. Urgent commission house buying uncovered stop-loss orders and the market moved upward in an active trade.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

FALA-CIOUS FACTS

SOME MONTHS AGO I wrote in this column concerning a collection of Fala-iana which has been incorporated in the Franklin D. Roosevelt memorial library at Hyde Park, N.Y.

An American friend has just informed me of a recent addition that was made to the collection, in which I think both dog-lovers and educationists may be interested.

The presentation was made at a moving little ceremony at the late President's home only last week by Miss Charl Ormond Williams.

Miss Williams, who is director of field service for the U.S. National Education Association, is well known in Victoria.

WELL KNOWN HERE

SHE SPOKE HERE some years ago in her then capacity of president of the U.S. Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was present at last week's Hyde Park ceremony, together with Fala, the little black Scottish terrier who was her late husband's inseparable companion.

Being the intelligent dog that he is, he took more than a cursory interest in the proceedings, particularly in that part which had to do with him.

For one of the mementoes concerned Fala, who achieved an unusual measure of fame during his regime at the White House.

AS AN EDUCATIONIST

THE DOCUMENTS presented by Miss Williams to the memorial collection recorded the steps by which the presidential Scottie had a place in the volume of proceedings of a conference on rural education held at the White House.

It was held in the fall of 1944. And one of the Alabama delegates declared he could not return home without meeting Fala.

So Mrs. Roosevelt appeared with the playful little pet. Whereupon Miss Williams suggested to the President that his arrival should be recorded on the minutes.

MESSAGE IN MINUTES

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT laughingly agreed, and wrote these words for his frisky pup:

"My name is Fala. I am the President's dog, and I am glad Mr. Meadows (the Alabama delegate) asked me to come to the teachers' meeting at our house."

This was the first time, according to Miss Williams, that a dog had gained admittance to a serious tome dealing with grave educational problems.

Evidently the little Scottie contributed so much to the success of the deliberations, perhaps because of his tail-wagging approval, that it was decided to enroll him on the roster.

DISCRIMINATORY BITES

SO WHEN FORMAL invitation was extended to him to honor them thus, President Roosevelt replied.

And his characteristically charming—and amusing—acceptance, dated Dec. 9, 1944, reads thus:

"I shall be very happy to have Fala join the National Education Association and be duly enrolled as a member of the White House Conference on Rural Education. He has learned to discriminate so that he only bites the people I would like to have him bite. There are still a number of them unbitten."

I wonder if Fala has obliged since? Or perhaps, in the light of his graver preoccupations since that happy day, his doggy mind has consigned them to that land where the unbitten cease from troubling?
